FINCH 'NOT SATISFIED'

HEW Secretary Criticizes FDA

. . . ON CYCLAMATE PERILS

Washington (AP) — Secretary Robert H. Finch roundly criticized a unit of his own Department of Health, Education and Welfare Tuesday for its handling of safety questions about cyclamate the widely used artificial sweetener.

"I am not at all satisfied with the present situation there," Finch said. "I think it's just inevitable that we're going to have some rather substantial reorganization of procedures and personnel (in the Food and Drug Administration)."

The secretary particularly criticized what he termed varying FDA assessments of possible health hazards associated with cyclamate use.

He singled out a recent FDA experiment, widely reported on national television, demonstrating a 15% incidence of birth defects after cyclamate injection into chicken eggs.

"We have appeared to waffle on it," Finch said in an interview.

"Some have been overzealous saying 'Sure, this may not be final or conclusive . . . but we still ought to run up the flag and sound the bugle,'" he said. "And others have gone too far the other way."

Finch mentioned no names. But he was referring apparently to Dr. Jacqueline Verrett, the scientist who conducted the chick experiment, and to FDA Commissioner Herbert L. Ley Jr.

Dr. Verrett has been quoted as advising pregnant women to exercise care with cyclamates unless and until all doubts are removed.

Dr. Ley has emphasized that the findings are tentative from the cyclamate studies on animals. Also, he said, the effect of the drug on a lower animal is not always the same as man.

Chromosomes Break

Another FDA experiment, first reported almost a year ago, found breakages of genetic material after cyclamate was injected into rats. Similar chromosome breaks are associated with birth defects and cancer.

A panel of the National Academy of Sciences reported last December there were no grounds for "serious suspicion" about cyclamates. But it recommended minimum intake levels for adults and children.

The sweetener, used by an estimated 175 million Americans, is found in diet foods and diet drinks, as well as in frozen desserts, children's vitamins, bacon, canned fruits and many other nondiet foods.

Nears $300 Million

The cyclamate industry is approaching $300 million in annual sales, FDA officials estimate.

The agency asked the National Academy last week to do a hurry-up, 30-day reassessment of cyclamates. "We need that note of urgency," Finch said.

The secretary was asked whether he was concerned that Dr. Ley waited almost a year before directing extension of the rat chromosome studies to other animals.

"I asked him about that and he said I prefer not to say anything more about it publicly except we certainly ought to have more than two species in any of these areas before we indict an agent," Finch replied.

Finch said he is not yet satisfied that the chick study was rigorous enough to rule out the possibility of false findings about cyclamate effects.

GIGANTIC NEW COMBINE . . . cuts broad swath across milo field near Seward.

Huge Combine Attracts Attention

. . . IN CORN, MILO HARVEST ON FARM NEAR SEWARD

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Seward — The harvest of corn and milo is getting lots of attention on the land farmed by Marvin Schulz near here.

Residents of the area are asking, "Have you seen that new $26,500 combine Schulz just purchased?"

There are many items about this mammouth piece of equipment that is helping to furnish conversation among both rural and urban residents.

During a half day of harvesting corn Schulz and his son, Darold, picked 3,500 bushels of corn.

"In a short day you could harvest 5,000 bushels," Schulz said.

The new 915 International hydrostatic model combine takes six rows at a time. It has a speed range of up to 15 miles per hour and the grain bin holds 150 bushels of grain. There are 12 lights on the combine for nighttime harvesting and much of the operation of the equipment is by hydraulics or electric switches.

The inside of the cab could double for a miniature spaceship and would probably be as confusing to an oldtime farmer used to operating with horses and a shucking peg.

The thing Schulz likes best about the new combine is that it does the work of two large combines he formerly used on the land he operates for numerous owners.

"A piece of equipment like this combine costs a lot of money, but it can be used to harvest every crop we raise and with one top operator you can do the job of several people."

"It is just a step a person has to take to stay in business with larger farming operations where help is hard to get," Schulz explains.

Other conveniences incorporated in the new machine to help the busy farmer are quick-change harvesting heads that allow the farmer to change from corn to milo or soybean harvesting in less than 15 minutes. Even much of the job of lubricating the machine is handled automatically.

Schulz says it has been a good crop year.

"The wheat was good, the milo looks most promising and the field where the 3,500 bushel of corn was combined in one afternoon was yielding about 190 bushels per acre."

Big Two Agree To Keep Weapons Off Sea Floor

©The New York Times

Geneva — The United States and the Soviet Union Tuesday submitted a joint draft treaty to the disarmament conference calling for a ban on the emplacement of nuclear weapons on the ocean floor outside the 12-mile limit.

The key paragraph of the joint proposal would forbid the placing of nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction, "as well as structures, launching installations or any other facilities specifically designed for storing, testing or using such weapons," either on the seabed, the ocean floor, or the subsoil thereof.

U.S. delegate James F. Leonard told the conference that the draft treaty would prohibit "nuclear mines that were anchored to or emplaced on the seabed," but not submarines "if they were either anchored to, or resting on, the seabed."

Leonard and Soviet delegate Alexei Roshchin, co-chairmen of the conference, announced that they hoped to obtain its approval of their proposal this month before submitting it to the United Nations General Assembly.

The co-chairmen, who have held the conference in session for weeks while they tried to reach agreement on the draft treaty, included in the preamble an assurance that the banning of nuclear weapons from the ocean floor would constitute a step toward general and complete disarmament.

Most disarmament delegates, however, would have preferred to use the meetings this year to discuss the prohibition of underground nuclear tests and other subjects more directly connected with general disarmament.

They have complained that in recent years Washington and Moscow have reached agreement on peripheral issues, such as a ban on nuclear armaments in outer space — and now on the denuclearization of the ocean floor — without tackling the fundamentals.

Asked what would happen if Washington discovered a nuclear missile implanted in the ocean floor outside the territory of another country, Leonard said the United States would be in the same position that it would be in if any treaty to which it was a party was violated. In such a case, he suggested, Washington would probably bring the case before the U.N. Security Council.

State Voter Registration Dips; GOP Boosts Margin Slightly

Republicans have slightly increased their margin over Democrats in the latest state voter registration figures released Tuesday by the secretary of state's office.

Total registration figures have decreased somewhat from the 668,512 figure recorded at the time of the 1968 general election. The total, as of Sunday, is now 664,962.

The decrease results from voters who have moved since 1968 and from county efforts to update their registration lists, Deputy Secretary of State Allen Beermann said.

The new figures also appear to bear out recent estimates of population loss in the state, he noted.

New totals show 344,392 Republicans and 298,569 Democrats.

In 1968, those figures were 345,459 and 302,643.

There are 1,497 registered voters in George Wallace's American Party and 20,504 registered independents.

The defunct First Congressional District New Party still lists 20 registrations, all in Lancaster County.

The numbers of independent voters and American Party registrants have increased in the past year. In 1968, there were 1,094 American Party registrants and 19,296 registered independents.

Here are the new figures for Lancaster County: 38,046 Republicans, 32,389 Democrats, 2,534 independents, 121 American Party.

Douglas County figures: 88,104 Democrats, 68,392 Republicans, 6,359 independents, 839 American Party.

Republicans have gained a net of nearly 4,000 registrations over Democrats in Douglas County since last November. The Lancaster margin is virtually unchanged.

Anti-Inflation Fight Going To Raise Unemployment

Washington (UPI) — Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy conceded Tuesday that the administration's anti-inflation fight is going to put more Americans out of work. But he refused to say just how much more joblessness the administration would tolerate.

"There's no question as you slow the economy there will be changes in the unemployment patterns and some increases," Kennedy told a House-Senate joint economic subcommittee.

But under questioning, Kennedy refused to estimate how much more unemployment there would be or where the Nixon administration would draw the line at permitting unemployment to gain.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey Monday repeated a Democratic charge that the Republicans were willing to sacrifice jobs to cool down the economy. He quoted a new Labor Department report of a 4% unemployment rate in September — the highest one-month gain in nine years.

Kennedy noted that before the Vietnam war, 4% unemployment was "a level we were trying to achieve — not avoid."

"Is 4% unemployment acceptable?" Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., wanted to know.

"In the present circumstances, it is acceptable," Kennedy replied.

Legislative Study Committees Named

The Legislative Council's executive board Tuesday named a 13-member committee, including six senators who did not serve on the 1969 Legislature's Budget Committee, to probe interim budget matters and other programs.

Seven of the budget unit's nine members will sit on the committee, chaired by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings.

The 1969 Unicameral's three elected leaders — Speaker Jerome Warner, Committee on Committees Chairman William Wylie and Legislative Council Chairman C. W. Holmquist — join three other senators in filling out membership on the study unit.

Warner was named vice chairman in charge of the committee's assigned task of studying legislative programs.

Other assignments for the committee include public welfare programs, motor vehicle inspection and programs for multiple-handicapped persons.

Tuesday's executive board decision, in effect broke the traditional sanctity of the Budget Committee, which regularly sits intact as a study committee during the interim between legislative sessions.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton was named chairman of the study committee on water and land resources.

Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha will head the study unit on rural health problems, nursing education and training of psychiatric technicians.

Named to head the committee probing conflicts of interest in local government was Sen. Rick Budd of Nebraska City.

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha will chair the study committee on consumer credit, and Holmquist will head the public power study committee.

Here are the board's assignments:

Legislative reorganization: Holmquist, chairman; Warner, Wylie, Swanson, Pedersen.
Health: Pedersen, chairman; Waldron, Carpenter, Craft, Johnson, Schreurs.
County Government: Wylie, chairman; Simpson, Burbach, Wiltse, Stull, Hanna, Klaver, Swanson, Elrod.
Education: Harsh, chairman; Knight, Ziebarth, Reynolds, Whitney, Danner, Kennedy, Simpson.
Inspections: Wallwey, chairman; Warner, Waldron, Moulton, Nore.
Agriculture: Robinson, chairman; Schmit, Keyes, Danner, Wenzlaff.
Conflicts of interest: Budd, chairman; Carpenter, Carstens, Hasebroock.
Fire prevention: Hasebroock, chairman; Schreurs, Keyes, Harsh.
Douglas County merit system: Skarda, chairman; Klaver, Bloom, Batchelder, Mahoney.
Eminent domain: Waldron, chairman; Hanna, Kremer, Syas, Craft.
Courts of limited jurisdiction: Luedtke, chairman; Pedersen, Carstens, Stull.
Consumer credit: Proud, chairman; Whitney, Moylan, Luedtke, Wenzlaff.
Water and land resources: Burbach, chairman; Kremer, Kokes, Johnson, Syas, Kennedy, Wiltse, Nore.
Advisory boards and commissions: Orme, chairman; Waldo, Moulton, Elrod.
Budget and other matters: Marvel, chairman; Warner, vice chairman; Batchelder, Knight, Clark, Robinson, Orme, Wylie, Moylan, Schmit, Wallwey, Holmquist, Reynolds.
Public power: Holmquist, chairman; Mahoney, Bloom, Budd, Duis.

The study on pension plans for volunteer firemen will be handled by the Legislature's retirement committee, and the probe of building needs of the State Historical Society was assigned to Legislative Council staff members.

21,000 Get Food Stamps

Chicago (UPI) — Nearly 21,000 Nebraskans partcipated in the U.S. Agriculture Department's food stamp assistance program during August, the department said Tuesday.

The department said the total included 12,214 persons on welfare and 8,317 low income persons.

The total assistance amounted to over $400,000 of which $139,000 was paid in bonus coupons.

Also during August, Jefferson and Nuckolls counties joined in the program for the first time.

Chicago Protesters Taught Groin Kicks

Chicago (UPI) — Undercover policemen testified Tuesday that Abbott (Abbie) Hoffman, a defendant in the Chicago riot conspiracy trial, drilled demonstrators in groin kicks and sought help in capturing a high police official during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Arthur Azavoorian, member of a surveillance team, told a federal court jury he saw Hoffman drilling demonstrators in how to kick to the groin after Jerry Rubin, another defendant, told the crowd to get "instructions on how to fight the pigs in self defense."

Richard Thompson, another plainclothesman, said Hoffman tried to enlist his support in seizing James Rocheford, deputy superintendent of police, as Rocheford sought to control a crowd turned back by National Guardsmen on a march to the International Amphitheatre.

Thompson and Aznavoorian testified for the prosecution in the trial of eight antiwar demonstration leaders on charges of conspiring to incite the riots that swept Chicago during the convention week.

Outside the federal building where the trial is being held, defendant Rennie Davis appeared at a protest rally of about 75 Black Panthers and referred to the bombing of a police memorial in Chicago Monday night.

"I think we did pretty well by the pigs last night over in Haymarket," Davis said. "We're going to do away with every symbol of repression in this town before this trial is over."

The Haymarket Square statue, erected to the memory of seven policemen killed by a bomb blast in a riot in 1886, was blown from its base — apparently by a dynamite bomb.

New York Times News Summary

China Agrees To Border Talks With Russia

(C) New York Times News Service

Hong Kong — Communist China's news agency announced that an agreement had been reached with the Soviet Union to open negotiations on the border dispute between the two countries. There was no date set for the meeting, which will be held in Peking at the vice foreign minister level.

China's Decision Assessed

Moscow — Soviet authorities said China's decision to open talks on the border dispute appears to be an effort by the Peking regime to ease tensions between the two countries, but, they said that while outright hostilities may drop off, the ideological differences between the two Communist giants will continue.

Seabed Agreement Reached

Geneva — A joint treaty that would forbid the emplacement of nuclear weapons, or other weapons of mass destruction, on the ocean floor was submitted to the Geneva disarmament conference by the United States and the Soviet Union. (More on Page 1.)

1,000 Youths, Police Clash

Berlin — About 1,000 East German youths gathered at the wall dividing the city and clashed with police who had tried to keep them away. Some 200 police charged into the group swinging clubs, while a thousand more youths hooted and jeered. The police managed to arrest about 50, but the rest scattered through the bombed-out areas of the city.

Budget Cut Let MIG Through

Washington — According to military sources, the Cuban MIG17 that landed at the Florida airfield where Air Force One was waiting to carry President Nixon back to Washington was able to do so because a radar picket plane designed to guard against just such a contingency was grounded because of budget cuts. (More on Page 21.)

Harvard Faculty Anti-War

Cambridge — The faculty of arts and sciences at Harvard University followed the lead of the Columbia University senate and voted to call for an end to the Vietnam war and the withdrawal of American troops. (More on Page 2.)

Ex-General Received Weapons

Washington — The former provost marshal general of the Army, Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner told a Senate subcommittee that he had received weapons from two police departments at no cost, but that they were for his personal use. (More on Page 2.)

GOP OKs 4% Unemployment

Washington — Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy told the Joint Economic Committee that the Nixon administration felt that the four per cent unemployment rate was "acceptable." (More on Page 1.)

Demos Propose 15% Increase

Washington — House Democrats termed President Nixon's request for a 10% hike in Social Security benefits "too little, too late." The Democrats said they would push for a 15% rise effective Dec. 1, four months before the effective date asked by the administration.

Viet Cong Charge Nixon Piles Up Bloody Crimes

Paris (AP) — The Viet Cong charged Tuesday that President Nixon "has piled up bloody crimes against the South Vietnamese people" since taking office.

A lengthy communique issued by the (Viet Cong) delegation to the Paris peace talks claimed that in the first eight months of the Nixon administration:

—The United States has stepped up B52 raids "to unprecedented fierceness, killing or wounding thousands of people, most of them women, children and old people.' "

—U.S. and South Vietnamese troops have conducted "frantic terror raids, mass murders, and herded the population into concentration camps."

World News

—The United States has increased chemical warfare "to poison the population and destroy crops."

—Hundreds of thousands of persons are held at present "in U.S.-puppet jails . . . subjected to tortures at anytime."

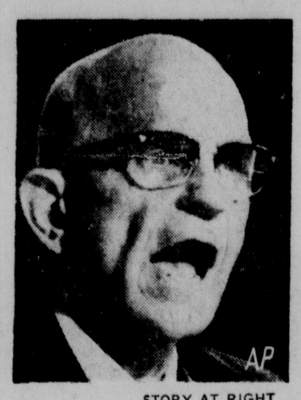
—There have been "mass murders" of persons held "by the U.S. puppet." The Viet Cong refers to the Saigon administration as a U.S. puppet.

—The urban population has been intimidated by mass imprisonments and repression of freedom of speech.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Chon, a member of the Viet Cong delegation, told a news conference that Americans give the orders for tortures that are carried out on prisoners by South Vietnamese jailers.

She said she was held prisoner in four South Vietnamese jails, from the beginning of 1967 to the beginning of 1968, and was also held for 20 days by U.S. military intelligence forces.

In response to a question, she said that no Americans were present at any jail when, she said, she was being tortured or humiliated.



STORY AT RIGHT

TURNER . . . ex-general.

Ex-General Admits Profiting On Guns

Washington (UPI) — Retired Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner admitted Tuesday he took several hundred guns seized by the Chicago and Kansas City police departments, sold "the cream of the crop" for about $2,000 and pocketed the proceeds.

Turner, former provost marshal of the Army, also acknowledged he never paid income tax on his gun sale profits, which he estimated at $6,800 for the past five years.

But to the obvious amazement of senators, spectators and reporters, Turner insisted during three hours of testimony that he did nothing wrong.

He sat ramrod straight, thumped the table, wagged his finger at his Senate interrogators and appeared outraged at many of their questions.

The bald, brassy Turner, portrayed himself as an avid gun hobbyist and philanthropist who lectured the Boy Scouts, gave guns to an Army museum and fixed firearms for friends. He said he accepted about 500 weapons from the Chicago and Kansas City police chiefs only with their understanding that the guns were for him, not the Army.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., acting chairman of the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, summoned Police Chiefs James Conlisk of Chicago and Clarence Kelley of Kansas City to testify Wednesday.

Philip R. Manuel, a subcommittee investigator, said Conlisk and Kelley told him that Turner got the guns by promising they would be used for Army training and an Army gun museum.

Turner, 56, who retired from the Army last November, also acknowledged he lost his new civilian job as chief of U.S. marshals last month as a result of the subcommittee investigation and a parallel probe by the Army.

Turner also has been accused of using his provost marshal position to cover up evidence that Sgt. Maj. William O. Wooldridge, then the Army's top enlisted man, headed a worldwide gang of crooked career sergeants. Wooldridge and his cronies have been accused of stealing hundreds of thousands of dollars from U.S. service clubs.

Wooldridge To Invoke 5th

Washington (AP) — Sgt. Maj. William O. Wooldridge, once the Army's top enlisted man, said Tuesday he will invoke the Fifth Amendment at Senate hearings but does not consider himself guilty of anything.

Speaking under the supervision of his attorney in a Senate corridor, Wooldridge old reporters his name has been unfairly blackened and his 28-year Army career ruined.

The attorney, David L. Thomas of Huntsville, Ala., said that on his advice Wooldridge will invoke the constitutional protection against self-incrimination when he is called to testify Thursday.

"I'm convinced a military court-martial would give him a fair trial," Thomas said.

Democrats Say Nixon's Output Low

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon plans to prod the Democratic-controlled Congress in a special message next week to get busy on his legislative proposals, it was announced Tuesday. The Democrats complained again he has given them little to do.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford accused the Democrats of "foot-dragging" in the latest flareup of partisan bickering over who is responsible for the general lack of activity on Capitol Hill.

After meeting with Nixon at the White House, he and Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott said more than 40 administration proposals were awaiting final action in Congress. With the current fiscal year four months old, they noted, only one appropriations bill has reached the White House.

"Something has to be done," said Ford.

Nixon, who Scott said was "curious that so little has evolved," plans to send his get-busy message to Congress Monday, making it public Saturday evening. Ford said it would give high priority to draft reform, on which the House is holding hearings and the Senate has done nothing.

House Speaker John W. McCormack said Congress had been productive despite "considerable delay" by the administration.

"For Republicans to charge Democrats with doing nothing is ridiculous," he said. "The conservative position usually has been that Democratic Congresses do too much."

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said he was pleased with the Senate's record. "I only wish that the proposals had been sent up earlier so that we could have acted on them sooner," he told newsmen.

Harvard Faculty Urges Pullout; 150 Abstain

The New York Times

Cambridge, Mass. — The faculty of arts and sciences of Harvard University called Tuesday for the "prompt, rapid and complete withdrawal of United States forces" from Vietnam and a "United and sustained national effort to bring our troops home."

The motion was passed by 255 to 81 with 150 abstentions at the end of a specially convened meeting. The vote followed by two weeks a similar action by the senate of Columbia University in New York.

The action thus placed the faculty of the country's oldest and most prestigious academic institution on record as opposing government policy.

Although the action represents only the sense of the 700-member faculty of arts and sciences, its decisions, representing the will of the university's central faculty, normally carry great influence elsewhere. Arts and sciences is the largest of Harvard's nine faculties and includes all professors except those in the professional schools.

The faculty also passed 391 to 16 a resolution that "recognizes" the national protest of Oct. 15.

Union Men Shout Down Lone Dove

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP) — AFL-CIO delegates shouted down a lone, young dissenter Tuesday and voted support of President Nixon's insistence on a negotiated peace in Vietnam before any more major U.S. troop withdrawals.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird delivered Nixon's thanks to the labor convention for its support and pledged, "We will not abandon South Vietnam."

George Meany, 75-year-old president of the 13.6 million-member labor federation led the approximately 1,000 delegates to a vote approving Nixon's peace efforts and opposing any unilateral withdrawal of American troops.

"No," shouted 28-year-old Art Carter in the only opposing vote after he lost a debate with Meany. Carter had proposed a resolution calling on Nixon for major troop cuts and a spedy end to the war.

Rain Hampers Allies

Saigon (AP) — Heavy monsoon rains hampered allied military operations in South Vietnam's northermost provinces Tuesday and ground fighting elsewhere remained light.

The air war went on as usual.

The U.S. Command reported up to 40 B52 bombers unloaded more than 1,000 tons of bombs Monday night and Tuesday against enemy positions along the Cambodian border.

American forces reported killing 43 enemy soldiers in scattered skirmishes from near the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon to the central highlands. One American was reported killed, and 11 were wounded.

The U.S. Command reported only 15 shellings of U.S. and South Vietnamese bases and towns during the night. Only six of the attacks caused casualties or damage, the command said, and all six were directed against government bases or towns.

Despite the relatively low level of enemy activity during the past week, the chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, indicated there has been no major shift in American battlefield tactics.

2 Demos Urge Saigon Begin Big Reforms

Washington (AP) — Two Democratic senators announced Tuesday they will propose a resolution calling for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam unless the Saigon government undertakes major reforms within 60 days.

The proposal came from Sens. Harold E. Huges of Iowa and Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri.

Hughes called the measure a reply to Republican pleas for a 60-day moratorium on criticism of President Nixon's Vietnam policy.

Eagleton said "repressive policies and practices" of the Saigon government make a negotiated peace impossible.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., charged that "bungling and mismanagement and miscalculation" during Democratic administrations produced the current situation in Vietnam.

Nixon Reportedly Assures Visiting Laotian Of Support

Washington (AP) — President Nixon was reported Tuesday to have assured visiting Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma of the strong support of the United States for the independence and neutrality of the little Southeast Asian kingdom of Laos.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, announcing this, said that during a meeting of about 75 minutes the Laotian leader asked Nixon for increased U.S. military assistance.

Ziegler said no decision was made at the meeting.

He made clear that the request for more U.S. military aid did not involve the sending of U.S. ground forces to Laos. It was a request for assistance made within the framework of the 1962 Geneva Accord which guaranteed the independence and neutrality of Laos.

The United States has supplied logistic support to the Royal Lao Army and has turned over T3 trainer planes to the Royal Lao Air Force. There have been reports, not officially confirmed, that U.S. piloted planes and helicopter gunships have backed up Lao ground troops in recent operations against Communist North Vietnamese forces and the local Pathet Lao guerrillas.

Rogers Agrees To Testify Before Fulbright's Panel

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers has agreed to testify on Vietnam in open session before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, a spokesman indicated Tuesday.

The spokesman, press officer Carl Bartch, said Rogers is responding affirmatively to committee invitation to appear, and "it is just a matter of working out a date that will be satisfactory to all parties."

The Senate group headed by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., critic of administration's Vietnam policy, plans to start hearings Oct. 27.

Bertrand 'Booty' To Stay At DeSoto Wildlife Refuge

Nebraska News

Washington (AP) — The historical booty of the Bertrand will stay in the DeSoto National Wildlife refuge, near the spot where it sank into the Missouri River in a Midwest marine disaster more than 100 years ago, the Interior Department says.

That's the word from Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, dispelling reports the century-old artifacts will be dispersed to museums across the country, without Iowa or Nebraska getting any.

Miller said Tuesday, Assistant Interior Secretary Dr. Leslie Glasgow told him "current thinking indicates that a suitable museum-type structure will be built on DeSoto refuge . . . containing exhibits telling the Bertrand story as well as a collection of representative artifacts from the cargo."

Only after the DeSoto collection is assembled will some of the remaining artifacts be distributed to other museums, Miller said.

Lof Of History

Telling the Bertrand story calls up a lot of history of the three states touching on the DeSoto Refuge — Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

The saga began when the 160-foot streamer commanded by Capt. James Yores set out from St. Louis, Mo., for Fort Benton in what then was the Montana Territory.

The cargo was quicksilver — mercury — gold, whiskey and such homely items as miners' boots. Part of the cargo aboard the Bertram was destined for Virginia City, Nev.

But the Bertrand met her fate when she struck either a reef or a snag and went almost immediately to the bottom.

The once-proud steamer drifted down into quick sand and mud beneath the Missouri for 103 years until two Omaha, Neb., men became interested in her.

60% Contract

The men, Jesse Pursell and Sam Corbino, negotiated a "treasure trove" contract with the government under which they would realize 60 per cent of anything recovered and the government 40 per cent.

Armed with old river maps, sketchy historical facts and electronic metal detecting equipment — and a love for adventure — Pursell and Corbino went to where they figured the hulk lay.

Through the spring and summer of 1968, they labored to remove the tons of sand and clay above the boat and in October uncovered part of the Bertrand.

By July, 1969, they had uncovered considerable treasure, including nine 76-pound flasks of mercury. Records indicate that some 500 more flasks were on the Bertrand when she sank.

The Interior Department said that "regardless of the outcome of the search for buried treasure, a significant historical find" of artifacts that can reveal fresh knowledge of a bygone age has been uncovered.

Reilly Seeks Congress Nomination

Omaha (UPI) — Robert T. Reilly, a 47-year-old Omaha advertising executive, Tuesday became the first person to announce his candidacy for the seat of Second Congressional District representative.

Reilly, a Democrat, told a news conference his decision was "a difficult choice because of business, family and personal reasons, but a buildup of what I've been interested in for over 20 years."

The vice-president in the advertising-public relations firm of Holland Dreves Reilly, Inc., here admitted one of the reasons for announcing so early is that "it will be a tough race."

"I feel it will take a year to win the office, and any candidate for such an important office should give the voters of his district ample opportunity to hear his views."

Reilly said he did not yet have any announcements on the campaign staff or on specific issues.

"But one of the areas I hope to get involved in very much is the whole area of tax reform," he said.

ROBERT REILLY
2nd District Candidate

He also mentioned inflation, the war in Vietnam and the crisis in the cities as other issues at stake.

Referring to Vietnam, he said "I don't think I'm a hawk or a dove. I certainly would like to see the war over — but then so does 80 per cent of the U.S. population." Reilly has two adopted sons, one of whom is presently serving in Vietnam, while the other is recovering in a state-side hospital from injuries sustained there.

Reilly said he thinks announcing early is definitely an avantage. He said his probable Democratic rival, former U.S. District Atty. Theodore Richling, is expected to announce his candidacy after the first of next year.

The Second District seat is currently held by Glenn Cunningham of Omaha, a Republican.

NU Soil Judgers Win Regional Title

A University of Nebraska soils judging team that competed at the North Central Regional Collegiate Soil Judging Contest in Missouri October 4 was awarded second place for the third consecutive year.

The team, coached by Dave Lewis, agronomy instructor at the NU College of Agriculture and Home Economics, includes: Larry Cihacek, Morse Bluff; Vernon Meints, Pickrell; Warren Anthony, Malmo; Leonard Johnsen, Virginia; Rodney Smith, Carlton; and Mike Petersen, Holdrege. Cihacek was second high individual and Anthony fourth high individual scorer at the contest, located in the Ozarks.

1st United Fund Report Shows 41% Collected

The Lincoln-Lancaster United Fund campaign has collected $434,750, representing 40.8% of its $1,063,889 goal.

"This is an outstanding start," General Chairman Kenneth Witt told volunteer workers at the first report meeting Tuesday.

At last year's first report, 28% of the goal had been reached.

The State Penal Complex received recognition for exceeding its "fair share" goal by 50%.

Reports of divisions, showing amount collected and percentage of goal:

—Special gifts, $109,288, or 61.7% of $177,105.

—Unit firms, $247,564, or 40.7% of $608,068.

—Business, $22,558, or $26.3% of $85,600.

—Government and education, $44,635, or 25.8% of $172,876.

—Women's division, $10,763, or 65.2% of $16,500.

The second report meeting will be next Tuesday.

Accident In Iowa Kills Nebraskan

Sibley, Iowa (AP) — A South Sioux City, Neb., man, Oren Benson, 52, died in a hospital here late Tuesday of injuries suffered earlier in the day when his truck left the road and crashed into an embankment.

Osceola County Sheriff Arnold Scheu said the accident occurred on a county blacktop road about five miles east of Sibley.

Scheu said Benson was alone in the truck when it went off the road.

Police Battle Looters After Ending Strike

Montreal (UPI) — Montreal police and firemen early Wednesday ended a 15-hour strike. They immediately began trying to stop the looting, violence and fires that broke out in Canada's largest city while they were off their jobs.

Union officials ordered midnight shifts to go back to work. A law hastily passed by the provincial legislature set midnight as the deadline for the return-to-work order, imposing fines and even jail sentences if the police and firemen did not obey.

At least three persons were reported killed and a dozen injured as looters swept through the downtown area during the strike. One report said a firearms store had been looted, and some police returning to work put on bullet-proof vests.

Ralston Voters OK School Bond

Ralston (UPI) — Residents at Ralston Tuesday voted overwhelmingly to approve a $2.7 million school bond issue.

The vote margin was 76% in favor well above the 55% needed.

Voting for the bond issue were 933 and 284 against.

School District Superintendent John Johnston said now he would try to get the bonds sold so that construction could begin on three new elementary schools.

Dedication To Feature Reischauer

A former ambassador to Japan and now University Professor at Harvard University, Dr. Edwin Oldfather Reischauer, will be the featured speaker in connection with the dedication of Oldfather Hall at the University of Nebraska Oct. 17.

Dr. Edwin Reischauer
Coming To NU Oct. 17

Dr. Reischauer will speak at 2:30 p.m. Oct 17 in the Sheldon Gallery Auditorium on "Japan Where History Flows Fast." The program will be open to the public.

Dedication ceremonies for Oldfather Hall, named in honor of former Dean Charles Henry Oldfather, will be held at 4 p.m. near the west entrance to the facility.

Oldfather Hall serves as the hub of the College of Arts and Sciences. Walkways connect Oldfather Hall with Bessey Hall on the north and Burnett Hall on the south.

A public open house at Oldfather Hall will be held from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Oct. 18 prior to the Kansas-Nebraska football game.

Fremont Man, 72, Dies Of Injuries

Omaha (AP) — A 72-year-old Fremont man died in an Omaha hospital during the night of injuries suffered in a traffic accident Sunday, police said Tuesday.

He was identified as George Sell, the driver of the car. His wife, Amlia, was hospitalized for treatment of injuries, but later released.

Police said Sell's car was in collision with two other vehicles.

The death raised the Nebraska highway fatality total for the year to 290, compared with 353 a year ago.

Omahan Reports $34,000 In Jewels Taken From Hotel

Washington (UPI) — An Omaha, Neb., appliance company executive told police Tuesday $34,000 worth of jewelry was stolen from his Washington hotel room.

Morris Levey, 68, an executive of General Appliance Management Co., Omaha, said he returned to his room at the Washington Hilton Hotel shortly before midnight Monday and discovered the lock on the door was broken and the jewelry was missing.

Levey told police nine pieces of missing jewelry included a 12½ carat diamond ring. He said $80 in cash was also taken.

Dr. Niehaus Dies; Medical Teacher

Omaha (AP) — Funeral services will be in Omaha Thursday morning for Dr. Friedrich Wilhelm Niehaus, an early specialist in internal medicine and a member of the faculty at the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

Dr. Neihaus died Monday at the age of 80.

Dr. Niehaus, who also worked in the sub-specialty of cardiovascular disease, joined the University of Nebraska faculty in 1920.

A past president of the Nebraska Heart Association, he was also on the staffs of the Immanuel and Methodist Hospitals in Omaha and had served as chief pathologist at Clarkson and St. Catherine's Hospitals in Omaha.

Dr. Niehaus had received his doctor of medicine degree in 1916 from the University of Nebraska.

Survivors include his widow, a son and daughter, four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

York Housing Contracts Signed

York (AP) — Contracts totaling $956,831 have been signed by the York Housing Authority for the erection of a five-story, 82 unit apartment building for low income persons.

The Bradley Building Co. of Salina, Kan. was awarded the general contract. Construction will begin next Monday.

Extended Forecasts

NEBRASKA: For the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, temperatures will average three to six degrees below normal in the northeast and six to ten degrees below normal in the south central. Normal highs are 67 to 72 and normal lows are 39 to 44. Cooling is expected Friday with a little warming near the end of the period. Precipitation will average around one-quarter to one-half inch in the east and less than a quarter-inch in the central portion, occurring mainly Thursday night and Friday.

KANSAS: For the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, temperatures will average three to six degrees below normal in the east and six to ten degrees below normal in the west. Highs are normally 71 to 76. Normal lows are near 40 in the northwest and 50 to 55 in the southeast. A cooling trend is to begin over the state about Friday with little warming late in the period. Precipitation should average around one-quarter to one-half inch in the east and less than one-tenth inch in the extreme west, occurring mainly between Thursday night and Saturday morning.

Summary Of Conditions

A large low center is located over Hudson Bay, Canada. A cold front extending through Kentucky to the Louisiana coast is moving slowly eastward. A large high is centered over northeast Utah and over northern Texas.

By Thursday the high should bring southerly winds and warmer temperatures as the cold front moves over the Atlantic coast. Little change is expected till then except that winds will decrease gradually.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

"Dear Regents: Why Living Rules?" That's the headline on an editorial appearing in a recent issue of The Daily Nebraskan, University of Nebraska student publication. The editorial, in part, states as follows:

"Talk at the University of Nebraska over the years about women's hours and keys, visitation and coeducational dormitory lounges is, at best, academic. When the Board of Regents gave approval to the coeducational lounge proposal this week, many persons felt that it was an important step to solving hours and visitation problems.

"But what one should ask is why regulations are needed . . .

"For the mature student, the large majority, housing and living regulations are neither needed nor wanted."

★

Any editorialist who would voluntarily get into the middle of that hassle probably needs to have his head examined but a lot of people think editorialists have this need, anyway. So, we will enter the hassle, not at all convinced that we have any answers and fully aware that what we will say will incur the wrath of at least some students.

To begin with, disciplines such as those concerning hours and housing on the campus are well meant. They stem from two fundamental parental characteristics—love and hope.

Those disciplines are present because parents love their children, even at age 18 through 21, and hope those children are able to achieve a meaningful and rewarding life. The Board of Regents is, in some things, an extension of this parental love and hope.

The disciplines under discussion are thought, rightly or wrongly, to be a contribution toward young people's achieving that point in life which parents want them to achieve. It is believed the construction of an environment is better than acceptance of whatever environment comes naturally.

★

Ultimately, everyone reaches the point where his environment cannot be controlled—where he lives among the circumstances and influences that are present at the time and must simply make the best of it. This point is most commonly reached when a young man and woman marry.

When this happens, regardless of the age, the young couple is called upon to assume family responsibilities and only the two of them can make a go of it. No one else can or should be expected to make it work for them, though there may or may not be some parental help along the way.

But that 18-year-old newlyweds are free of disciplines beyond those they set for themselves is not necessarily support for undisciplined environment for even 20-year-olds. The young married couple has made its decision, thereby placing the two people in different circumstances.

The idea of living rules is simply to help students to achieve their maximum potential in their educational pursuits and in life in general. It is considered a benefit to them in that it removes from them a certain amount of distraction, of competition and, perhaps, of temptation, if such a corny word might be permitted.

★

It is an effort to assist young people by not having to grow up too fast. It is not a reflection upon their maturity or upon their integrity.

It must be granted, of course, that such regulations draw an obvious distinction between the degree of maturity at age 19, for instance, as opposed to the degree of maturity reached at age 25. A parent with any 19 or 20-year-old becomes much less dogmatic and much more open to discussion but tries not to cut all strings entirely.

Nor are regulations unique to college students. Rather, they are common to living at all ages, changing only in their characteristics and nature but remaining just as binding and sometimes just as unwanted or uncomfortable.

We have not bluntly said whether such regulations, in view of everything, are right or wrong but we will beg off on that on the grounds that this was not the question asked in The Nebraskan editorial. We might add only that conviction as to whether the regulations are right or wrong is hard to come by, even though their existence can be explained in perhaps a number of ways.

Communists On Campus

Academic freedom, always a volatile issue, is being tested again in California in the case of Angela Davis. Miss Davis, a Negro, is a self-avowed communist who was fired in September from her position at UCLA by the University of California Board of Regents which invoked a 1942 rule banning communist teachers in the university system.

The Los Angeles Times, a newspaper of moderation and one which expresses the liberal viewpoint in many areas, backed the regents in firing Miss Davis—viewing the academic freedom argument as nonsense and uncharacteristcally calling Miss Davis' fight to retain her job a communist plot designed to embroil the UCLA faculty and the board of regents in a bitter fight, which has happened, and one which would foment additional disruption on the system's campuses.

The UCLA academic senate, however, rallied behind Miss Davis' right to teach regardless of her political convictions and demanded that she be permitted to teach and the course be for credit. The Times then took a moderate editorial stance, pleading for Gov. Reagan and the regents not to order Miss Davis' lecture hall cleared and have her removed from the university. The regents ruled last Friday that she could teach—but not for credit—until the validity of the rule banning communist teachers is settled upon in court.

The situation is now probably where it should be. Miss Davis lectured on philosophical themes in black literature before a crowd of 1,900. One hundred and sixty-nine students had registered for the course. The students present apparently agreed with her statement that "the regents shouldn't be allowed to interfere with the intellectual process."

The UCLA faculty would have fought regents on the academic freedom issue no matter who was behind Miss Davis, so whether the incident has communist overtones is not that important. Miss Davis reportedly is not advocating violent revolution; has not said anything overtly in support of communism and even if she did, we think university students should be allowed to make up their own minds on the worth of such teachings.

Not What's Needed

Sen. Phillip A. Hart, Michigan Democrat, lost a lot of people when he suggested licensing of auto repair facilities and a national system of licensing mechanics. Hart is chairman of the Senate subcommittee on anti-trust and monopoly investigating auto repair practices.

When you speak of national licensing, you are speaking of federal licensing and that leaves us cold. If you think the price of auto repairs is high now, wait until someone manages to get the federal government into licensing. Then the price of repairs will really skyrocket as red tape and unreasonable standards hike the overhead of doing business.

We now have, for instance, a requirement that all new cars have head rests, to prevent whiplash. Maybe a few whiplash cases have been prevented but we wonder if other accidents have not been caused by the headrests which can impair vision. Additionally, the headrests are a pain in the neck and a lot of people just don't like them.

There are undoubtedly some unscrupulous mechanics in the country and some unscrupulous repair shops but we rather doubt that you could ever legislate them all out of business. There are also a lot of unreasonable car owners who want their buckets of bolts to run like a fine Swiss watch, ride like a featherbed and look like a Rembrandt.

When it comes to auto repairs, we would still prefer to rely upon the free enterprise system and the competition of an open market. It might not be perfect but it could be a lot worse.

Proud Of Heritage

Lincoln, Neb.

I read with interest Ken Nuendorf's article, "Indians Won't Be Part Of Society While Their Culture Is Attacked" and would like to offer a few comments from my own personal experience.

When a person moves to the city, he cannot expect to receive give-aways. The only way you can succeed is to work. Only when you prove yourself do others respect you.

In my own instance, we moved to Lincoln over 17 years ago. It was difficult to find employment and a respectable place to live, but after working hard for low wages, the better things came. It isn't easy to overcome the obstacles along the way but one cannot expect others to do it for you.

I can't see where the Indian culture is being attacked. There are many people, whites and others, who are interested in seeing the pow-wows, museums and learning about the history of the culture. There are several dance troupes consisting of a majority of non-Indians who tour the country and thus more people are made aware of the culture and take an interest in it. Several youngsters have also asked me for help in making costumes.

In some states, such as Oklahoma, we observed non-Indians taking tours of Indian museums. Also, many of the Boy Scouts take an interest in Indian lore and history, even making Indian costumes and learning Indian dances.

After these observations and in working with both young and old, unless I misinterpret culture, I'm unable to see our culture being attacked.

In regard to the statement of its being a crime to be an Indian, the words "crime" and "Indian" are two different things. A crime is an offense against the law whereas an Indian is a human being, the first American. If a person is proud of his heritage, no matter what the nationality is, this is no crime.

I'm a proud American Indian.

Right Of Choice

Springfield, Mass.

Dr. Frederick J. Stare, a nutritionist of Harvard, says fluoridation has been hailed "as one of the four great mass preventive health measures of all time." We in the Massachusetts Citizens Rights Association maintain that fluoridation is not a public health measure; it is the boldest attack on constitutional freedom we have ever seen masquerading as a benefit to children.

Many eminent nutritionists have denied the essentiality of fluoride, pointing to the fact that fluoride has never shown to be necessary for health, teeth or for anything else in the body. Many accredited scientists who have studied this chemical and researched the experiment reveal that fluoridation is not scientific, effective or safe. Who has guaranteed this experiment?

No one has, and what is urgently needed is a vast educational program at many levels on the essentials of health — better nutrition and diet for the children and less intake of refined carbohydrates. If children's teeth are in a poor condition, it is mainly because of the weakness of many parents by not controlling the diet of their children, and they cannot put all their faith in the idea that fluoridated water is going to perform miracles.

Every individual should be free to enjoy personal liberty and his right of choice to take or refuse any drug causing changes in his body when that choice does not threaten the public's health. Fluoridation is an infringement of this right, especially when the American citizen is told only one side of the story.

Murphy History

Lincoln, Neb.

It gives me great pleasure to announce that the long awaited Murphy History and that of their related families has been completed and can be seen at the Lincoln Public Library, 14th and N Streets.

It is on a microfilm that was taken of a 425-page manuscript. This microfilm gives our branch of the Murphys from the Fourth Century down to the year 1969, and many of the related families from the 17th Century to the year 1969.

The Hayes of Balleen, County Clare, Ireland, Canada and the U.S.A. beginning with the 17th Century and down to 1969 have 100 pages in this history. It also includes the Carmodys, Frawleys, McNamaras, O'Sheas, McMahons and the Walls, all a part of the Hayes family and claiming County Clare, Ireland, as their original home.

These are a few of the related families of the Murphys in the history. The Murphys migrated to Canada from Ballyhooly, County Cork, Ireland, where they were known as the Fermoys. Some of the related families were the Crowlys, Tobias, Sheehans, O'Briens, Quinns, McCurdys, Draneys, Kanalys, Levicks, Hunts, Winns and the Bolejacks.

The Tighes of County Slige, Ireland, have a prominent part in this history of the Murphys of Canada and the U.S.A., and nearly every town in Nebraska is mentioned in this history.

Most of these families were the very first pioneers in Peterborough County, Ontario, Canada, and later became the first pioneers to settle the prairie states of Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, South Dakota, and were among the Sooners of Oklahoma state. Their indomitable spirit and love of this new country made it possible for them to build the villages, towns and cities that cover this area, rich in farmland. These pioneers and their descendants can be found among the leading industrialists, bankers and doctors, as well as all other phases of American life.

This research for the history took seven years and required me to visit many foreign countries.

New Proposals

Dorchester, Neb.

In the Friday, October 3 issue of The Star, I note a letter from "Mrs. G." in which she mentions the underground parking in San Francisco, California. I agree with her that such a development for Lincoln would really be an outstanding accomplishment.

I am also wondering why such a project could not be developed in connection with the new federal building that is planned for Lincoln. Surely it would be a much more attractive use for the contemplated parking area on an entire block such as is now proposed. I would suggest either or both tunnel or overhead access to the federal building from the parking.

Also, I hope something in a mall such as now being constructed on 15th Street will sometime in the near future be developed on J Street between the Capitol and the new County-City Building. These improvements are what will keep Lincoln in the public's thoughts.

I also will be pleased to see the proposed improvements on the N-O, 11th-12th block, as suggested. Shops and stores on the lower floor, parking above, with overhead passages to other stores.

Youth Curfew

Lincoln, Neb.

Friday evening about 9:15 while returning home with my family on Capitol Parkway, my car windshield was shattered by a rock. Stopping, we noted two youths running through Antelope Park. I reported it to police on duty at the pavilion, and after a search, two bikes were found near the area where I had seen the boys.

I wonder what parents say when two boys come home without their bikes. Do they question the matter, report it to the police, or even care?

Perhaps it's time Lincoln considered a youth curfew.

Myth Of Equality

Lincoln, Neb.

The Lincoln Star's columnist, Robert Peterson, in his reply of October 2 to the black American letter-writer, indicates that HE is the one who still harbors a dated attitude. He is the one who is unaware of what is STILL happening in America.

He implied that all Americans have an equal opportunity to obtain work, to receive quality education and to create a comfortable life. He does a great disservice to his readers, both black and white, by perpetuating this myth — the myth that equality exists in our country.

Although there are some examples of diminishing inequalities during the last five years, there are far too many persisting conditions of discrimination to warrant his reply that second-class citizenship has disappeared.

Gun-Control Rules Quietly Weakened

WASHINGTON — The gun control law was bought with the blood of President John F. Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. With each assassination, the legislation was made stronger and won more supporters.

Now the Nixon administration is trying to reverse the trend by exempting .22 caliber ammunition from the record-keeping provisions of the bill. To keep from arousing the public, it has contrived to get around the Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee's public hearings.

Unpublished correspondence obtained by this column between Chairman Tom Dodd, D-Conn., and Sen. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, reveals that Dodd twice invited Bennett to testify. The respected Utah senator, who is pushing the amendment to exempt .22 ammunition, agreed to appear.

But five days before the hearing, he abruptly changed his mind. He explained in a "Dear Tom" letter: "I learned today on completely reliable authority that even if (my amendment)) should be passed by the Senate," it would not get out of the House. Therefore, Bennett asked that the amendment "be dropped from the hearings and further consideration of it postponed."

Thus Dodd, who had planned to oppose the Bennett amendment, was lulled into silence. Bennett, meanwhile, quietly revived his amendment in the Senate Finance Committee and attached it to a tax bill, hidden in the small print.

The Utah senator, whose reputation for probity put him on the Senate Ethics Committee, informed his colleagues of the Finance Committee that his amendment would not apply to "ammunition . . . for pistols and revolvers."

Treasury Secretary David Kennedy backed him up.

The fact is that millions of pistols use exactly the kind of ammunition in the administration-backed exemptions. These range from the handsome .22 caliber Iver Johnson that killed Sen. Kennedy to junk imports.

When these facts were called to the attention of Kennedy and Bennett, their aides scurried to "clarify" their misstatements.

The sneak play to avoid hearings prevented these issues from reaching the public.

Haynsworth Matter Represents Rift In GOP; Brandeis Case In 1916 Disputed Four Months

WASHINGTON — Important as the Haynsworth affair is in itself, since worth affair is in itself, since for life, it has almost greater significance in the context of a party divided against itself. The deeply troubling question is whether the Republican party can face forward and govern the country or whether it is doomed to look back like Lot's wife at a past forever gone. And Lot's wife, let it be remembered, was turned into salt.

The lightning flash was Sen. Edward Brooke's letter to the President calling on him to withdraw the Haynsworth nomination. From Massachusetts, the only Negro in the Senate, Brooke submitted his letter to the 10 or 11 moderate-liberal Republicans most concerned. With one or two exceptions they approved it.

These are the men who can give the party a forward direction. They are challenging the Republican in the White House on one issue after another. And more often than not, as in the Haynsworth affair, they are outflanked by the conservatives allied with the South.

☆ ☆ ☆

To say that these men are motivated solely by noble idealism would be absurd. What politician is? They must be re-elected if they are to stay in public life and they know only too well how strong is labor-civil rights opposition to Haynsworth outside the South.

In this light they see Haynsworth as the front man for the Nixon southern strategy. He is a gift to the Thurmonds, the Towers, the Hruskas and to the Eastlands — the southerners dug in for last-ditch resistance to integration of the races.

The frankest exposition of the strategy based on the South and the West, letting the Eastern seaboard in the classic Goldwater prescription be cut off to drift out to sea," is in Keven Phillips' book, "The Emerging Republican Majority." A special assistant to Nixon campaign manager John N. Mitchell, the 28-year-old Phillips is now a special assistant to Mitchell as attorney general. Using maps and charts as he did in the campaign, Phillips sets out to prove that the Nixon-Wallace strength last year, 57 per cent of the total vote, is the profile of the Republican majority of the future.

". . . Having achieved statewide success only in the Deep South," Phillips writes, "and facing competition from a Southern Republicanism mindful of its opportunity, the (George Wallace) movement cannot maintain an adequate political base and is bound to serve, like past American third parties, as a way station for groups abandoning one party for another. Some Wallace voters were long-time Republicans but the great majority were conservative Democrats who have been moving — and should continue to do so — toward the GOP."

In this interpretation, the party can easily afford to lose Massachusetts, New York and Michigan. Phillips would throw in the top 10 states carried by Hubert Humphrey — Hawaii, Washington, Minnesota, West Virginia, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Maine as well as New York, Michigan and Massachusetts—and still come out with a Republican lead.

This may be a valid statistical theory. If the off-term elections mean anything, it has a few flaws. Out of five House seats up this year, the Democrats have won four. In Massachusetts a Democrat, Michael J. Harrington, was elected to a seat the Republicans had held since 1875. He defeated a famous name, William L. Saltonstall, son of former Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

The three other seats the Democrats won were in Wisconsin, Montana and Tennessee.

As sign and symbol of the southern strategy, the Haynsworth nomination will have repercussions far into the future. That has happened before. Perhaps the fiercest fight ever over a Supreme Court nominee followed Woodrow Wilson's choice in 1916 of Louis D. Brandeis to be associate justice. That controversy raged for four months, with the charge that Brandeis was a radical with socialist tendencies. With this went an undercurrent of anti-Semitism.

Brandeis was confirmed by a vote of 47 to 22. The vote, it should be noted, was on almost straight party lines, only three Republicans voting to confirm. And Brandeis, it should also be noted, became one of the most distinguished judges ever to sit on the court.

Program Planned At NWU For Vietnam Moratorium

A program of films, lectures, discussions and demonstrations is planned October 15 on the Nebraska Wesleyan University campus in observance of the National Moratorium on Vietnam.

The program is being planned by an informally organized committee, authorized and supported by the NWU Student Senate and guided by Bob Blankenship, Student Senate president, and Fred Winbarg.

The students have sought support for the project from the faculty by asking that faculty either dismiss classes for the day, devote the class period to discussion about the war, or at least not schedule exams on that day. The legislative committee of the faculty voted to subscribe to the moratorium, but left it up to individual faculty how they subscribe.

Blankenship said the moratorium program on the Nebraska Wesleyan campus will start the evening of Oct. 14 with films concerning the war.

A keynote address is planned Wednesday. The speaker has not yet been determined. A talk-back with the speaker follows at 11 a.m.

At noon, a symposium on the draft is planned. At 2 p.m., a panel will discuss the Nixon administration to date and the alternatives facing the nation.

At 3:30, a joint NWU-NU march to the State Capitol is planned from Love Library. A peace picnic and protest music contest is scheduled for the afternoon.

The moratorium, described as a series of national escalating anti-war actions, is being run from Washington with a staff of veterans from the McCarthy and Kennedy political campaigns. Indications are that the moratorium is to be expanded one day in length each month, until the war is ended.

Newcomers Welcomed By Auxiliary

Newcomers were the special guests Monday afternoon, when the Lancaster County Medical Auxiliary entertained at a get-acquainted tea at the home of Mrs. Fay E. Whitla.

Seated from the left are Mrs. Whitla; Mrs. Logan Griffin; newcomers, Mrs. Francis Neumayer, Mrs. Terry Rustoven, Mrs. Paul Plessman; and Mrs. John Reed, member of the hostess committee. Standing (left to right) are Mrs. George Hachiya, auxiliary president, Mrs. Kenneth Hubble and newcomer, Mrs. Elliott Rustad.

Co-chairmen for the tea were Mrs. H. E. Mitchell and Mrs. Frank Cole, and hostess committee members were Mrs. G. W. Dean, Mrs. E. N. Deppen, Mrs. M. J. Epp, Mrs. C. G. Erickson, Mrs. C. F. Ferciot, Mrs. K. J. Fijan, Mrs. H. E. Flansburg, Mrs. M. D. Frazer, Mrs. J. H. Fritsch, Mrs. S. I. Fuenning, Mrs. J. E. Gardner, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. H. E. Reese, Mrs. H. D. Shaffer, Mrs. L. E. Sharrar, Mrs. N. I. Simon, Mrs. N. J. Wilson and Mrs. M. A. Wood.

Showers

To be the honored guest on Wednesday evening will be Miss Ruth Fiala, a bride-to-be who has chosen Saturday, Oct. 18, as the date for her wedding.

Miss Fiala, who will become the bride of Charles L. Caha of Wahoo, will be presented a miscellaneous shower at a party to be held at the home of Mrs. Roy W. Moock. Co-hostess for the evening will be Mrs. Larry Ludden.

On Friday evening, Oct. 17, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Caha of Wahoo will be dinner host and hostess at their home in prenuptial courtesy to their son and his fiancee, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Fiala of Lincoln. The guests will include the members of the family and bridal party for the wedding, which will take place at an afternoon service to be solemnized at the Czech Presbyterian Church in Wahoo.

Also honoring Miss Fiala recently was Mrs. James Nissen who was hostess to 30 guests at her home on Wednesday evening, Oct. 1.

PEO Chapter

Mrs. R. F. Prentiss was hostess at her home, 3015 Stratford, Monday afternoon, to the members of Chapter DM, PEO.

Miss Leona McCallum was in charge of the 12:30 o'clock program, "Travel Trails", which included a "harvest" sale.

No Rest In Suburban Areas

The arrival of Wednesday each week brings thoughts of the coming weekend and plans for filling every minute between 5 o'clock on Friday evening and 8 o'clock on Monday morning.

When it comes to planning weekend activities during the autumn season, the one thing that no Nebraskan would forget to consider is a football game — or maybe two football games. But don't get the idea that everyone lives Monday-through-Friday just for Friday-through-Monday. In fact, suburban residents have been busy with activities not only on the weekends but during the week as well.

Country Club Terrace residents Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Lohrberg and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Underwood certainly didn't skip any football activities last weekend when they followed the Cornhuskers to Minneapolis, Minn. The two couples joined the Utica JayCee's bus tour to Minneapolis where, in addition to watching Nebraska defeat the Minnesota Golden Gophers on Saturday, they attended the Vikings-Packers game on Sunday.the foursome returned to Lincoln Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Meyer of Clifford Place are busy this weekend entertaining a guest foursome. Three members of the foursome are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Abeling and their son, Billy, of Riverside, Calif. The fourth guest is Mr. Abeling's mother, Mrs. Dorothy of Canajoharie, N.Y., and isn't a case of east meeting west in the Mid-west. Mr. and Mrs. Aberling and their son had been visiting Mrs. Abeling in Canajoharie, and prevailed upon her to accompany them back to California to spend the winter.

Lincoln is so stranger to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Abeling since they were Lincoln residents seven years ago when Mr. Abeling was attending the University of Nebraska and their stopover here was for a Monday-to-Wednesday visit with their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Buckley's travel calendar has been full of destinations recently. Mr. and Mrs. Buckley left Hollingsworth Heights on Saturday, Sept. 27, for West Union, Iowa, where they visited Mr. Buckley's brother and siser-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Buckley, and family.

From West Union the travelers went on to Minneapolis, Minn., where Mr. Buckley attended a three-day business meeting which ended Thursday. Then to Rochester, Minn., to see Mrs. Buckley's sister and nephew, Mrs. F. J. Furlow and Richard, before they visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Buckley, and grandchildren, Bambi and Brent, in Ames, Iowa. They arrived home in Lincoln last Sunday.

Evening Ceremony

Arrangements of gladioli in shades of pink and burgundy decorated the altar of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Crete on Saturday, Oct. 4, for the wedding of Miss Marleen JoAnn Horak of Lincoln daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Horak of Western, and Dennis D. Mundt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mundt of Beaver Crossing. The 7 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Paul R. Schmidt.

Mrs. Tim Meirav of Wichita, Kan., the honor attendant, and the bridesmatrons, Mrs. Ronald Horak, Western, and Mrs. Larry Andelt, Crete, appeared in frocks fashioned with slender skirts of pink chiffon and snug basques in burgundy velvet.

Serving as best man was Harold Meinke of Crete, asd the groomsmen were Ronald Horak, Western, and Rodney Mundt, Beaver Crossing, brothers of the bride and bridegroom. Ron Bonebright and Lyle Gruntorad, Lincoln, seated the guests.

The bride's gown of white Chantilly lace in the rose motif was designed in the princess silhouette. The fitted bodice was contoured by a high throatline and wide, camelot sleeves, and the skirt of controlled fullness continued into an aisle-wide train. A profile bandeau of lace and silk roses held her bouffant illusion veil and she carried a shower arrangement of pink roses.

Mr. Mundt, a graduate of Nebraska Technical School at Milford, and his bride will live at 6425 Lexington. The bride is a graduate of the Lincoln Beauty Academy.

Talk Around The Town

Secrets — Secrets — SECRETS — We've been submerged in them the past few days — And promises, promises, promises — we said we wouldn't tell — at least not right now.

All of the exciting news doesn't have a 'secret' label, however. Guess who is having breakfast at the White House with President and Mrs. Nixon next Monday morning AND — Tuesday morning — Mr. and Mrs. Myers B. (Bud) Cather of New Canaan, Conn., who are former Lincoln residents and particularly popular ones.

There is more news that we can tell without breaking any promises, too. Some of it involves a young lady who was a cheerleader at Southeast High School two short years ago — 1967. During her career at Southeast she also was Junior-Senior Prom Queen.

The young lady now is a coed at Baylor University in Waco, Tex., and her name is Miss Jane Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hansen.

Miss Hansen seems to be as popular at Baylor as she was at Southeast — She has just been elected sweetheart of the Baylor chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, a national man's service club.

There are a few words to be said about homecomers, this morning — We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Roland Tornbloom will be back in town tommorrow or the next day.

Mr. and Mrs. Tornbloom have been in Hawaii where Mr. Tornbloom attended the annual convention of the American Bankers Association which was held in Honolulu. From what we hear it wasn't one of those all-work-and-no-play meetings — The New York City National Bank, for instance, had quite a bash for the convention attenders and their wives when it entertained at a reception at the Ilikai Hotel — That was only one of the festive affairs according to our grapevine.

And speaking of parties — the weekend calendars are generously dotted with them during the remainder of October — and even into November.

As a matter of fact it is a November party we have in mind at the moment. Saturday, Nov. 1, as every avid Cornhusker fan knows, is the Homecoming game — and the foe is Colorado. And that is the date of the pre-game brunch for which Dr. and Mrs. Richard Wieland will be host and hostess when they entertain at the Lincoln Country Club.

Abby: see lawyer

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a very charming 73-year-old widower in Florida. (I am a 70-year-old widow.) It was a whirlwind romance and we married shortly after. Herbert is very well-to-do, but that is not the reason I married him.

The problem is that Herbert gave me no hint at all that he had had surgery six years ago, and all he could offer me was "a lovely home and a gin rummy partner."

Please don't get the idea that I think "sex" is everything in marriage, but I am a very youthful 70, and I was looking forward to a little more than a loveiy home and a gin rummy partner.

I don't want to disgrace my children and grandchildren with a divorce. Herbert laughingly said, "If you got yourself a boyfriend, I wouldn't divorce you as long as I didn't find out about it." What should I do?

MISLED

DEAR MISLED: Most women of 70 who marry a man of 73 would be content with a lovely home and a gin rummy partner, but if you are not, don't worry about "disgracing" anyone. See a lawyer about an annulment. You have legitimate grounds.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this for myself and lot of my girl friends.

There is a woman in town who is married and has small children. Her husband works nights, and while he is working this lady runs around with other men (We know this is true because our parents have told us so.)

This lady calls me or one of my girl friends just about every night, asking us to baby-sit for her. We can use the money, but our parents have told us to turn her down. No matter how many times we turn her down, she calls again.

We think maybe if she can't get a baby-sitter she'll stay home. If you put this in your column she might see it and take the hint.

HOPING

DEAR HOPING: Assuming your parents are right, it will take more than a "hint" from me, and repeated turndowns from a long list of sitters to make this lady stay home, if she's inclined to run around.

Wedding Planned

Miss Tracy Hester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burgess N. Hester, has revealed that her marriage to Darrell Walton will take place on Friday, Oct. 24, at St. Luke's United Methodist Church.

For her honor attendant, Miss Hester has named Mrs. Jerry Waldo as her matron of honor, and her bridesmatron will be Mrs. Dennis Capps. Miss Denise Capps and Miss Tammy Hogle will be the flower girls.

Mr. Walton, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude L. Walton, will have as his attendants his brothers, Dennis Ealton, Kenneth Walton and Robert Walton.

Meeting

The regular fall meeting of the Nebraska Chapter, Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America, of which Mrs. B. C. McLean of Lincoln, is president, will be held next Saturday in Omaha.

Mrs. Karl K. Matthews of Omaha, vice president of the society, will conduct the meeting following a 12:30 o'clock luncheon at the Hotel Blackstone, and a program will be presented by Mrs. Len Young Smith of Winnetka, Ill., national president.

Opening lead — five of hearts.

Let's say you're in three no-trump and West leads a heart. How should you play the hand in order to have the best chance for the contract?

This is by no means an easy problem to solve, but at least you are not entirely in the dark about how the East-West cards are divided. As a matter of fact, you should already know nearly everything you need to know.

First of all, West must have every missing high card, since he opened the bidding. He is also a favorite to have at least five hearts and presumably does not have the K-J-10, having failed to lead the jack.

You can put all this knowledge to work in a most unusual way. The first item on the agenda is to go up with the ace of hearts, even though you know very well you could win the trick more cheaply in your hand. The next thing to do is to force out one of West's aces, say, by playing a diamond to the king.

West takes the ace and makes the best return of a low heart to East's ten, whereupon, out of the goodness of your heart, you let East win the trick! Of course, there is method to this madness, since this play assures the contract.

Let's say East returns a diamond. You win and force out the ace of clubs. The best West can then do is cash his king of hearts to hold you to nine tricks.

Note that if you do not go up with the ace of hearts at trick one you go down, for you would lose three heart tricks and two aces. Note that you also go down if you win the ten of hearts at trick three.

Both plays are crucial and can easily be justified because West's hand, for practical purposes, is an open book. You don't have to actually see his cards to know them.

Delegates

Lincoln members of the Homestead Council of Girl Scouts who plan to attend the national Girl Scout Council meeting are Mrs. Darrel Seng, president; Mrs. George Liggett, first vice president; and Mrs. Doris Steele, executive director.

The national meeting will be held Oct. 19 to 22, at Seattle, Wash.

Atomic Rocket Coming Along Quietly, Slowly

Cleveland (AP) — While Americans focused their attention the last few years on the race to the moon, work has progressed quietly, slowly but apparently successfully on development of the nuclear rocket, the space engine of the 1980s.

The nuclear rocket engine, officially labeled the Nuclear Engine for Rocket Vehicle Application (NERVA) has even been satisfactorily tested on the ground. Preparatory work has begun on development of the total rocket stage.

Project Rover, the nuclear rocket program that dates back to 1955, suddenly jumped into the spotlight with the White House announcement Sept. 18 that a manned Mars expedition was being considered for the 1980s.

No Big Problems Left

Robert W. Schroeder, head of the Space Nuclear Propulsion Office's Cleveland Extension, says there are no major problems left in the engine's development.

"Our job now is one of refinement, improvement and development," he said.

Schroeder heads a force of 100 engineers and administrators directing rocket development, a joint project of the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Private contractors are building the engines under SNPO supervision. Test firings are at the Nuclear Rocket Development Station at Jackass Flats, Nev. The prime contractor is Aerojet General Corp. of Sacramento, Calif. The Westinghouse Astronuclear Laboratory developed the nuclear reactor.

At Lewis Center

The SNPO force here works in NASA's Lewis Center, which has helped develop chemical rockets. Lewis Center also operates a test reactor near Sandusky, Ohio, which has been used for testing materials for the nuclear rocket program.

The nuclear rocket is designed to be sent aloft as the upper stage of a chemical rocket such as the Saturn. Several nuclear rockets, each sent aloft as a separate module, would be clustered in space for long-range missions.

Schroeder says six such engines, each with a 75,000-pound thrust, could power a manned Mars mission. Three would be fired to kick the spacecraft out of Earth orbit on a trajectory for Mars. Two engines would be needed to brake the spacecraft to put it in orbit around Mars, and one for a return course for Earth, Schroeder says.

Reactor And Nozzle

The nuclear rocket engine is simply a small reactor in a container with a nozzle at one end. The propellant is fed through the fuel element, and exhaust gases shoot from the nozzle.

The complete rocket stage includes the nozzle, reactor, propellant tank and shielding.

Using liquid hydrogen, Schroeder says, the nuclear rocket produces twice as much thrust per pound of propellant as does the best chemical engine.

Apparent Conflict In Federal Fund Plans Puzzle Tiemann

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann pictured himself Tuesday as puzzled by apparently conflicting positions within the federal government on anti-inflation measures, especially as they relate to highway construction.

Tiemann and other governors were told recently by Vice President Spiro Agnew that if the states cut back on their own capital construction programs, the Nixon administration will not interfere with the flow of federal highway funds to the states.

But Tiemann last week received a telegram from Federal Highway Administrator F. C. Turner, releasing federal highway funds for the last three months of 1969 and stating:

"This action is taken with the belief the governors will make substantial voluntary (highway) project deferrals during both the current quarter and the remainder of the fiscal year, to result in significant reductions in the program, to assist in reaching national anti-inflation goals.

"Corrollary expenditure reductions to meet budgetary goals also are an objective," the wire said.

Gov. Tiemann said Tuesday: "That's not part of the deal at all."

Tiemann said he is trying to reconcile Agnew's statement with the Turner telegram.

Bryan Days Set For Oct. 17, 18

Bryan days, an annual event conducted at Bryan Memorial Hospital in cooperation with the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, will be held October 17 and 18.

This year's topic is the select problems of the gastrointestinal tract. Particular attention will be directed toward post gastrectomy problems and management of iliostomy.

Guest faculty on the program will include Dr. L. H. Stahlgren of Philadelphia; Dr. F. L. Weakly of Cleveland; and Dr. James H. Chapman of Kansas City, Mo.

Local physicians and surgeons contributing to the program include Dr. Hiram D. Hilton, Dr. Leonard R. Lee, Dr. Herbert E. Reese, Dr. F. F. Paustian, Dr. George E. Larson, Dr. J. H. Rickman, Dr. Joseph E. Stitcher, Dr. J. G. Wiedman, Dr. C. H. Newell, and Dr. Glen F. Lau.

Lincoln Board Of Education Approves Head Start Contract

By KEN NEUNDORF
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday approved a Head Start contract on which to negotiate with the Lincoln Action Program but tabled action on proposed new construction policies and employe health insurance rate hikes.

The board also heard Associate Supt. Robert Den Hartog report that the school system emerged from the 1968-69 school year with $48,000 in unspent funds due to savings of $33,000 in adult education money and $15,000 in regular day student funds.

With the board's approval of the form of the $169,000 Head Start contract, the school system will begin negotiations on the program with LAP Wednesday.

Supt. John Prasch said LAP will continue to be the agency responsible for Head Start this year despite a transfer of the program from the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity to the U.S. Office of Education.

The program will reportedly involve about 160 children in eight classes at Hayward School.

Rate Increase

Representatives of the company furnishing group health insurance for school employes told the board that rising medical and hospital costs necessitate an increase in policy rates.

The company seeks to increase each policy by $1.91 per month, payable by the employe rather than the school system.

Currently the school system subsidizes the program with a $6.20 per month per policy, figure that wouldn't be changed by the rate hike.

Negotiation Urged

Prasch told the board that consideration in the future should be given to negotiating with insurance companies on possible change of benefits rather than rate increase.

Prasch proposed, however, that the board vote to continue dealing with the company and accept the rate increase requests, but to stipulate that no increases can be made without the approval of the board and of the Lincoln Education Association.

The board turned down the motion, but decided to consider the matter again Oct. 21. The increase is scheduled to be effective Nov. 1.

Action Tabled

The board tabled action on new construction policies after discussion bogged down in debate over architects and their ability to estimate costs.

Board member Robert Wekesser noted that architects work on a cost-plus-percentage basis and that the greater the project cost, the greater the architect's percentage.

Wekesser suggested calling in contractors to check on architects' cost estimates, but Prasch said contractors can also "warp" estimates by submitting higher bids than the job calls for in order to make a greater profit.

Dedication Nov. 9

The dedication for Goodrich School is still scheduled Nov. 9 with moving in set to begin Nov. 10, Prasch told the board.

The completion of the school has been delayed by construction strikes and other slowdowns.

Prasch said the move will involve about 420 sixth grade and junior high students presently attending Whittier School.

In Operation

In another report, Prasch said the Head Start Followthrough program funded by U.S. Office of Education money, is in operation at Elliot, Clinton, Park and Hayward Schools.

Hayward at first was short of the required number of Head Start graduates to make up the class, but Prasch said the class had been filled by busing former Head Start students from Park School.

The superintendent said the busing includes only those students whose parents approved the plan.

In other action, the board approved a YWCA request to use Willard School, accepted the report of Den Hartog on budget and payroll and okayed a few personnel changes and staff adjustments.

Lincoln Foundation Board Okays $1,000 Gift To Houses Of Hope

The Lincoln Foundation executive board Tuesday approved a contribution of $1,000 to the Houses of Hope, a halfway house for homeless alcoholics.

The contribution had been requested by Mrs. Barbara Fox, president of the Houses of Hope board, to fund continued operation of the halfway house.

Mrs. Fox told the foundation board that the Houses of Hope lost all funding as of Aug. 31. She said funds had been coming from the Office of Economic Opportunity through the Lincoln Action Program.

"This money (from the foundation) would sustain our very valuable facility until, hopefully, other funds become available," she said.

To National Meet

Mrs. Fox said the money would be used to send two persons to attend the national meeting of the Association of Halfway House Alcoholism Programs of North America in order to learn about possible sources for funds and to retain the cook.

The foundation board also approved a scholarship of $1,000 to Marjorie Schwindt for training as a licensed practical nurse.

A $10,000 request to help finance the Lincoln Consumer Credit Counseling Service was turned down. Board members contended retailers and credit card companies should finance the project.

Ken Opp, president of the counseling service, said the service would help those in financial trouble by advising families on budgeting and family money management. He said the service would also be available to those who want help in avoiding credit problems.

'Not Compatible'

Opp said the Lincoln Credit Bureau had provided such a service but discontinued it in Jan. 1, 1969 because "the service was not fully compatible with the operation of the credit bureau."

Harry Simon, a member of the foundation board, said retailers and credit card companies should finance the project. He contended those firms are responsible to a degree for credit problems, saying the companies make credit easy to obtain.

The board also turned down a $600 request for the Lincoln State Hospital Day Care Program, saying that funding the project is a responsibility of the state.

Books, Magazines Are Seen In Check Of City Jail, Cells

A city jail inmate reading a paperback novel, numerous magazines and paperbacks in cells and a collection of about 100 books — mainly college text books — in the jail library were noticed in a check of the jail by The Star Tuesday.

The check was made in an attempt to see what reading materials are available to inmates.

A petition has been sent to the City Council by inmates who complained that they lacked reading materials. They also charged that they are kept ignorant of news of the world.

Magazines spotted in the jail included news magazines, sports magazines and automotive publications.

In addition to college textbooks in the library, there were novels and books on the fundamentals of English and speech, foods and animal life, algebra and marriage and human behavior.

Police records showed that inmates had checked out books from the jail library on June 18 and Oct. 1. Inmates had charged in the petition that "the library has been virtually discontinued. We have had books one time only (April 24, 1969)."

The signatures of inmates signing the petition were spotted on library cards for books checked out June 18 and Oct. 1.

Police Inspector E. R. Henninger said it is his feeling that the letter to the City Council was written to "blow off steam."

Henninger said he would welcome any donations of books, magazines, or newspapers to the jail library, which is now located in the jail classroom.

City Library Director Charles Dalrymple said Tuesday he would be willing to provide a gift selection of books for the jail if the police department is interested.

Application Dismissed

The Nebraska Railway Commission reported Tuesday it had dismissed at the applicants' request an application by the Union Pacific Railroad and Railway Express Agency, Inc., for authority to discontinue the services of an agent at Stapleton.

Housewife Gets No Answer To Why Meat Prices Go Up

Washington (AP) — The housewife sparking meat boycotts in four states went to Congress Tuesday to find out who's to blame for high prices and got no concrete answer.

Mrs. Ross De Lorenzo of Levittown, N.Y., was told that the real culprits are inflation, high marketing costs and high consumer demand and that her boycotts are no help.

"I'll tell you who you're hurting," said Rep. John T. Myers, R-Ind., a livestockman. "You're hurting the farmer out there who raises this beef. You're not hurting the chain stores."

Accusation Leveled

But Mrs. De Lorenzo accused the House subcommittee studying meat prices of loading its witness list with meat industry officials and congressmen from livestock-producing states and said she is not convinced it is interested in getting at the answers.

"The housewife is angry, confused, and helpless in the face of all the statistics the experts throw around," she said. "She wants to know, and has a right to know, where her money is going and she looks to you her elected officials for the answer."

Chairman John S. Monagan, D-Conn., appearing surprised by her attack, said the three-day hearing was called to find out why choice beef prices went up 10 cents a pound between April and June.

He noted the Agriculture Department's answer as of August was: "rising consumer incomes, a high employment rate and inflationary pressures" plus an ever increasing demand for meat.

Mind Changed

Rep. Catherine May, R-Wash., said she came to Congress convinced the middleman is to blame for high food prices but learned when she served on the National Commission on Food Marketing in 1964 that no one was making "an unconscionable profit."

"So who is the real culprit?" she asked. "His name is inflation, jnd he has hit consumers and the beef industry alike."

The American National Cattlemen's Association said it isn't getting the money and in fact is reaching the point where growers may decide to curb production in the face of rising costs and thereby force prices even higher.

"We have just about exhausted all the efficiencies that are available," said C. W. McMillan, the associations executive vice president, in prepared testimony, "and have absorbed all the added cost factors that we can absorb."

He added: "We seem to be under the gun simply because we produce food, and consumers seem to be more sensitive to food prices than to any other prices."

Mrs. De Lorenzo accused the subcommittee of refusing to permit "experts" to testify, including Dr. Ralph Reuter, chairman of the Metropolitan New York Consumer Council.

'Protest Lockout'

Reuter sent a telegram saying he was distressed by the lack of expert testimony and added: "Protest vigorously lockout of consumers' spokesmen."

Mrs. De Lorenzo is a leader of a Long Island meat boycott which she said has spread to parts of Connecticut, Virginia and Colorado.

She said participating housewives are asked to buy no meat from local stores for a week and only three times a week after that.

Haynsworth Had 300 Of 18 Million Shares

Washington (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said Tuesday Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. held 300 shares of stock in W. R. Grace Co. at the time he ruled in a case involving the firm.

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., one of the leading backers of Haynsworth's nomination to the Supreme Court, confirmed the holdings but dismissed them as insignificant.

Hollings said the ruling was in a personal injury case brought against a Grace shipping subsidiary, Grace Lines, and he said the decision involved only $50.

He said that under U.S. law a judge has to disqualify himself only when "in his opinion" his interest is "substantial."

Hollings, in both a Senate speech and in an hour-long news conference called to defend Haynsworth against a broad range of criticism, said this clearly was not the case.

"It's 300 shares out of 18 or 19 million," he said.

The Grace stock is now worth less than $9,000 but neither Bayh nor Hollings could say immediately what it was worth when the case was heard.

Hollings said that rulings by California courts had established a precedent that judges need only disqualify themselves when they have a direct interest in a company and not merely an interest in a parent holding company.

Bayh's office said it had determined Haynsworth held the shares in W. R. Grace when the Grace Lines case reached his 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in 1967.

A federal district jury awarded $50 to a seaman who had sought $30,000 in personal injury damages and back pay after being struck by a falling ladder.

The seaman appealed to the 4th Circuit Court to have the decision set aside, but the appeals court ruled that the money award was at the discretion of the district court jury, thus letting the $50 award stand.

Cavalry Officer Declared Head Of Brazil By Military

Rio de Janeiro (AP) — By military order, Gen. Emilio Garrastazu Medici was proclaimed president of Brazil Tuesday.

The cavalry officer had been favored to succeed Arthur da Costa e Silva ever since the army, navy and air force ministers set themselves up as a caretaker junta Aug. 31. That action came after Costa e Silva suffered a stroke.

The appointment established a precedent by which the armed forces constituted themselves as a sort of electoral college to install one of their peers without so much as a glance at civilian politicians. The last election of a chief executive by direct popular vote was in 1960.

Medici has been known as a close friend of Costa e Silva, and is expected to continue programs that have brought a measure of stability and economic recovery, but with it censorship and a repression of political activity.

Medici, 63, has been in uniform 50 years, having started in a military school for boys. As a two-star general he took part in the revolt that brought the military to power.

Friends recall that Casta e Silva, one of the leaders of the revolt that ousted President Joao Goulart, called Medici to find out his position.

The reply was typically laconic: "What are your orders, chief?"

College Of Business Administration Quarters Revamped For 50th Year

This fall the University of Nebraska's College of Business Administration began its 50th year.

The roots of the college may be traced back to the university's earliest days.

In 1871, the first year classes were held, Dr. Allen R. Benton, the first chancellor and also professor of intellectual and moral philosophy, offered a course in political economy.

Later classes in business were incorporated in the curriculum of the department of political economy and commerce. A School of Commerce was organized in 1913 and became the college of Business Administration in a reorganization authorized in 1919.

Since that time, the College has grown continually under four deans — the late J. E. LeRossignol 1919 to 1941; the late John D. Clark, 1941-1946, the late Earl S. Fullbrook, 1946-1958, and currently Charles S. Miller.

Enrollment has swelled from about 600 in the 1919 classes to more than 2,000 today and faculty has expanded from eight to about 50.

Curriculum has also advanced to keep pace with today's business complex. A recent reorganization of the college's internal structure divided it into five teaching departments — accounting, economics, finance, management and marketing, and a research branch, the Bureau of Business Research that was established in 1922.

Within this framework, courses of study are designed to develop mature understanding of the general nature of business and to offer study concentration in such areas as accounting, advertising, banking, finance and investment, economics, international economics, marketing, management, insurance, labor and personnel, public finance, retailing, transportation and public utilities.

The semi-centennial is taking on additional importance for the college because within a few weeks staff and students will be moving into newly revamped quarters.

The former home of the college, Social Sciences Hall, has been renamed the College of Business Administration and is in the final stages of a complete renovation.

The new facilities will include a large auditorium, 15 classrooms, three amphitheatre-type lecture rooms, a statistical and date processing laboratory a reading room, a faculty commons room and offices for the dean and his staff, the faculty, the staff of the Bureau of Business Research and working areas of graduate assistants.

Shooting Case Charges Filed

A 33-year-old Lincoln man Tuesday requested a preliminary hearing in Lancaster County Court on a charge of shooting with intent to kill, wound or maim in connection with a Monday night incident.

Judge Ralph Slocum set Oct. 22 for hearing for John F. Kruger, specifically charged with shooting Richard Nuss, 37, of Aurora, Colo., Monday night.

Nuss, who was wounded in the stomach was reported in good condition at a Lincoln hospital Tuesday.

Try To Save Office

Frankfort, Ky. (AP) — The state has taken to the courts to try to save the original law office of Henry Clay at Lexington. A Presbyterian church wants to dispose of the office to make room for expansion.

Taxes On Liquor Total $484,301 For Past Month

The State Liquor Control Commission Tuesday reported liquor tax revenues totalled $484,301 for September, compared with $446,138 for September 1968.

Revenue totaled $4,608,999 for the first nine months of this year, a slight increase over the $4,548,433 for the comparable period last year.

'Prefab' Zoning Bid Indefinitely Postponed

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday postponed indefinitely action on a zoning request by Lincoln Securities Co. on an 80-acre tract of land south of Lincoln for a housing development.

Commissioner William Grossman said that to grant the zoning at this time would create too many problems including drainage onto adjacent land, road problems and possible problems for the Rokeby school district.

Lincoln Securities had requested the change of zone to permit a subdivision for "prefabricated" homes. Both the city-county planning director and commission had recommended denial of the request.

In other action, the commissioners approved appointment of one new member and two reappointments to the City-County Planning Commission.

Gilbert E. Deitemeyer was named to the commission to succeed Frank White, and Edwin C. Perry and George Williamson were reappointed.

Two NU Air Force Cadets Receive Awards

Two University of Nebraska Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets received Vice-Commandant's Awards for outstanding contributions during summer encampment this year.

They are Cadet Don C. Bottorf of Sutton and Cadet Stephen H. Moncure of Omaha.

Cadet Bottorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bottorf of Sutton, received the Air Force ROTC Vice-Commandant's Award for his outstanding efforts during an encampment at Little Rock Air Force Base in Arkansas.

A senior in Business Administration, Cadet Bottorf is scheduled to be commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation in June and will enter undergraduate pilot training shortly thereafter.

Cadet Moncure, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Thomas F. Moncure of Offutt Air Force Base, received his award for his performance at the same encampment. He is a senior in economics and will also enter pilot training following his commissioning as a second lieutenant and graduation in June.

Grants Given To 28 Cadets

Twenty-eight Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets have been awarded AFROTC financial assistance grants, having a potential value of $70,000.

The award of these grants brings to 70 the number currently held by cadets in the University of Nebraska AFROTC program. The 70 grants, valued at about $120,000, cover the cost of tuition, laboratory expenses, incidental fees, provide an allowance for textbooks and provide each recipient $50 a month during the tenure of his grant.

The grant recipients are:

Ronald D. Asche, Leigh; Gale A. Barnhill, Beatrice; William F. Bauer, Lincoln (1023 N. 24th); Kevin L. Belka, Lincoln (5344 Colfax); Arthur M. Bullock Jr., Lincoln (2201 S. 37th); Douglas M. Chevalier, Wallace; Daniel T. Daley, Omaha; Aaron R. Dewispelare, Garrison; Ronald D. Diffendaffer, Minatare;

Schreurs Named To Admissions Counseling Post

State Senator Wayne Schreurs, Seward, will serve as an admissions counselor on a part-time basis for Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Schreurs, a graduate of Westmar College and Evangelical Theological Seminary, will work in the Lincoln and Omaha area contacting prospective students.

Schreurs taught three years at Seward High School before he was appointed this year by Gov. Norbert Tiemann to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Stanley Matzke.

First Discrimination Victim

John Mooney, president of the Football Writers Association, claims he may have been the first athlete to be a victim of discrimination.

"I was discriminated against because of my race (I was slow)," he claims, "because of my color (I was yellow) and because of my creed (coaches felt that I was both slow and yellow)."

Dick Young, veteran New York scribe, suffered facial abrasions in a scuffle with a CBS-TV camera crew in the New York Mets' dressing room Sunday at Atlanta.

The fight started when Young told the TVers they'd have to wait until the writers were through before they could talk to Mets' manager Gil Hodges.

Young claimed one of them shined a bright light in his eyes and another one knocked him down, then a couple more joined in.

On the subject of interviews, a west Texas radio man called Texas coach Darrell Royal prior to the Longhorns' game with Texas Tech to tape an interview.

He began, "Darrell, this is a pretty important game for you. I know it's not as important as last week's game (the California opener) . . ."

"What the hell are you talking about?" Royal interrupted.

"Coach, you're on the air," the broadcaster cautioned.

"I don't care," Royal replied. "You're the one who's making the stupid remarks . . ."

Jayhawks Not Night Owls

The Kansas loss to New Mexico was the third time in three tries under Pepper Rodgers that the Jayhawks have lost at night.

When New Mexico scored in the first quarter against Kansas, it was the first time since the 1967 Missouri game that the KU goal line had been crossed in the first 15 minutes.

Back to the boob tube:

Bill MacPhail of CBS claims, "I hate to admit this because we don't have baseball, but all the talk that football has superseded baseball as the national pastime is malarky. Whenever a crucial baseball game is opposite football, it kills us in the ratings."

Joe Namath explaining why he didn't go to Notre Dame says, "I visited Notre Dame, but I nearly had a heart attack when I found they didn't have women. They said, 'There's a girls school just across the lake.' I said, 'Man, I don't swim after my women. And, I don't want to talk to them on no pay phones."

Sports Illustrated says Mark Traynor is a New York beauty consultant and already a big name in body painting and facial jewelry. Now he has created two new hairdos—the Hawk and the Pepitone named after Ken Harrelson and Joe Pepitone.

"They're just like the originals," he says, "only a little shorter, because they're for girls."

Pepperisms . . .

Kansas coach Pepper Rodgers thinks:

"Mistakes beat you and the only way to keep from making mistakes is to concentrate, really concentrate. Anybody can concentrate on the opening kickoff. But the great teams, the winners, concentrate on more plays.

"They have longer concentration spans. And where does concentration for a game start? It starts on Monday. And it means the squad listens to everything the coach says."

And, "if you have to lose you ought to get clobbered. When you lose by one point everybody thinks it's the coach's fault. But when you lose big they blame the players."

Underdog Mets Take Day Off Before Drilling For Series

New York (AP) — The New York Mets took Tuesday off to recover from their first pennant-clinching celebration and tidy up some personal affairs and ticket problems before starting to get ready for the World Series with a morning workout today.

Already installed as 8-5 underdogs, a familiar role for a team that started the year as 100-1 longshots, the Mets were confident they would be able to go all the way and take the series from the Baltimore Orioles.

"Nobody can stop us . . . Atlanta, Baltimore, nobody," Cleon Jones said in the happy glow of victory. "We're gonna win it all."

The series will open Saturday at Baltimore with Tom Seaver, the Mets' 25-game winner, scheduled to face left-hander Mike Cuellar, who won 23 for the American League champions.

The long delay in starting the series is the result of the three-game sweeps by the Mets and Orioles in their league playoff series. The weekend start, with days off for travel, also handily assured television NBC of at least one Saturday-Sunday show and possibly two if the series goes six or seven games.

They play in Baltimore Saturday and Sunday, take Monday off for the one-hour flight to New York and resume at Shea Stadium with games Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, if a fifth is needed.

Unless somebody has won four by that time they will take another day off Friday for that hop and a skip to Baltimore and pick it up again in Baltimore, Saturday, Oct. 18 and possibly, Sunday, Oct. 19. Of course, any rain delay would stretch it out even longer. In the World Series any postponed game is played off the following day on the original site and the whole schedule is pushed back.

The extended schedule makes it possible for the two managers, Gil Hodges of the Mets and Earl Weaver of the Orioles, to use only three starting pitchers and still give each a three-day rest. That could mean three starts each for Seaver and Cuellar in the first, fourth and seventh games. It will be Dave McNally (20-7) for the Orioles against Jerry Koosman (17-9) in the second game and Jim Palmer (16-4) against Gary Gentry (13-12) in the third game.

Record Against Big Eight Cited

. . . 'STANDARDS TOO RIGID'

Chicago (AP) — Reassessment of the Big Ten's rule structure by faculty representatives will be done after the football season, commissioner Bill Reed said Tuesday.

"Such a reassessment has been made for several years and there never has been a change," he told Chicago football writers.

The question of the Big Ten's rule against red shirting, its comparative rigid stand on junior college transfers and its limit of 30 football grant-in-aid tenders came up in the wake of the conference's 12-16-1 showing against outsiders in football this season.

"I don't think the Big Ten is a disaster area," said Reed. "We have two teams (No. 1 Ohio State and No. 9 Purdue) in the top 10 rankings and this has been the same year in and year out."

The upswing of Big Eight teams against the Big Ten the last two seasons in particular was based possibly on the growing strength through red shirtings-mothballing an athlete for a year for extra maturity.

The Big Ten was 0-4 against Big Eight football teams last season and is 0-6 this year as Oklahoma, Missouri (twice), Iowa State, Nebraska and Colorado piled up impressive victories.

Reed admitted there is divided opinion on the red shirt rule among Big Ten facultymen but said "the majority is heavy against it."

"The rule is being examined constantly," he added. "Personally, in some cases I can see no harm in it, but not when it is used wholesale."

As for increasing football tenders, Reed said the marginal benefits would not be as large as expected because the extra athletes coming in probably would not be able to hack the grades.

"I would say, however, that the greater the number the greater the prospects. But eventually, I think, when other schools across the nation begin realizing the economics involved they, too, will reduce grants."

The junior college transfer rule varies. The NCAA permits eligibility for a transfer after one year if he maintains a B average.

The Pacific-8 permits eligibility after 1½ years, thus giving transfers the benefit of spring practices.

The Big Ten's eligibility is based on two full years at the same junior college. This eliminates spring drills for the transfers.

"We keep assessing our program and find that we have the same quality in our conference as always," said Reed. "It's the quality across the country that is rising."

Some coaches' comments on the subject:

Woody Hayes, Ohio State — "When we play against teams whose academic standards or entrance requirements are not as high as ours, I can see the difference (meaning the opponents are strong). I can see in some places of pricing ourselves out of football."

Alex Agase, Northwestern — "When I'm competing, I want the same advantage as those whom I'm competing against."

Jack Mollenkopf, Purdue — "If I had the power I would make the football program as strong as possible, no matter what."

Jim Balek, Illinois — "I would like to see the redshirt rule stabilized — yes or no — throughout the country. Then we wouldn't be at a disadvantage by it."

Wolbach, Shickley Still Tops

By VIRGIL PARKER
PREP SPORTS WRITER

Defending Class D state football champion Wolebach advanced another step closer to a repeat title by continuing to lead the small school division in this week's prep ratings, while Shickley stayed atop the eight-man heap.

Very little change occurred in the ratings of the two divisions this week. Though a slight amount of shuffling took place, the same ten teams constitute the select group in Class D.

Two new teams moved on to the eight-man honor list for the first time, although the top clubs remained unaffected.

Beemer, Dix and Hildreth follow Wolbach in the Class D rankings, just as they did a week ago. However, Elwood jumped up a couple of notches by shutting out Oxford, 8-0, a team No. 6 placed Cambridge barely edged, 18-16.

Rosalie, only because it was idle, traded places with Elwood, with another switch taking place between the No. 8 and 9 teams.

Clarks gains the nod over Overton by topping Polk, a team which had been enjoying pretty fair success against all Class C foes.

Sumner, without all-stater Dan Simmons, scored a lopsided victory to hang on to its No. 10 spot.

Bartley and Humphrey are the two newcomers to the eight-man ranks, replacing Paxton and Lewiston, which fell from favor after absorbing losses.

Paxton was bombed by No. 3 Sutherland, 42-0. A closer result wouldn't have hurt the Tigers so much, but they either weren't as strong as expected, or Sutherland is more powerful than it is presently being given credit for.

Lewiston lost to Elk Creek, a team which had dropped its first three outings.

Miligan continues its move toward the top, advancing to No. 4 this week and Trenton jumps up three notches on the ladder after beating a good Maywood team in the only other major eight-man shifts.

Nebraska Prep Ratings

By Virgil Parker

Class D

1—Wolbach (4-0)	6—Cambridge (3-1)
2—Beemer (4-0)	7—Rosalie (3-0)
3—Dix (4-0)	8—Clarks (3-0-1)
4—Hildreth (4-0)	9—Overton (4-0)
5—Elwood (3-1)	10—Sumner (3-1)

Comment—Same ten teams which were in the group last week. Potter and Bruning pose the greatest challenge to the leaders. Elwood makes biggest jump, from 7th to 5th. Comparative score with Oxford, also played by Cambridge, is the basis. Rosalie drops only because of open date.

Eight-Man

1—Shickley (4-0)	6—Shelby (4-0)
2—Bradshaw (5-0)	7—Trenton (4-0)
3—Sutherland (4-0)	8—Adams (4-0)
4—Milligan (4-0)	9—Bartley (4-0)
5—Gresham (5-0)	10—Humphrey (3-0)

Comment—Each of the top ten teams still unbeaten, while six others with perfect records waiting to join the group. Maxwell, Barneston, Cedar Bluffs, Cody, Doniphan and Venango waiting in the wings. Bartley and Humphrey replace Paxton and Lewiston, members a week ago.

Frillman's 74 Leads State PGA Meet

John Frillman of Omaha carded a two-over-par 74 Tuesday at the Hillcrest Country Club to lead a tightly-bunched field through the first round of the Nebraska PGA Golf Championship.

Frillman's 74 gave him a one-stoke lead over Bud Williamson Sr. of the Lincoln Country Club, who fired a 38-37—75.

Another stroke back is Jerry Dugan of Omaha and Merle Backlund of Grand Island is fourth at 77. The field of 17 pros will play a final 18 holes today at Hillcrest.

The top Ten:

John Frillman, Omaha	38-36—74
Bud Williamson Sr., Lincoln	38-37—75
Jerry Dugan, Omaha	40-36—76
Merle Backlund, Grand Island	40-37—77

Nice Guy Wallace Terror On Field

By VIRGIL PARKER

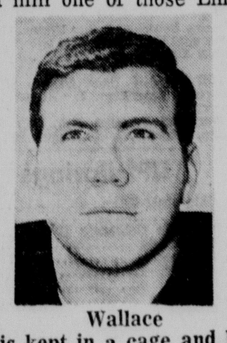
When coach Bob Devaney's University of Nebraska footballers travel to Columbia Saturday, they'll not only be facing one of the nation's top teams, but an individual nemesis in Missouri defensive tackle Jay (Rocky) Wallace.

It would seem that Wallace, who twice in his career has been named Big Eight Lineman of the Week, would be a sure-fire all-American if he could play against the Huskers every week.

"I'd have to admit that the two best games I've ever played were against Nebraska," he says. "At least they were the most satisfying to me personally."

As a sophomore, when he also handled the Tigers' kicking chores, Wallace booted a 45-yard field goal for the margin of victory in a 10-7 Missouri triumph.

Last fall, when the two clubs tangled in Lincoln, his devastating defensive play earned him one of those Lineman of the Week titles.



Wallace

Wallace, who has been sidelined with a leg muscle injury since summer, hasn't seen any action this fall. But he's received the green light from the team doctor for this week's clash.

"I hope it's a good omen that my first game as a senior will be against Nebraska," the soft-spoken, bespectacled Wallace said.

As a rough and tough interior lineman with a nickname like "Rocky," you might expect Wallace to look like someone who is kept in a cage and let out only on Saturdays.

Instead, off the field at least, he's a polite, mild-mannered, normal looking guy. In fact, in these days of grid giants, at 6-1 and just under 220 pounds, he's a little subnormal.

Wallace even tried to steer the conversation from his football exploits to his church activities. He spent the past summer working with the Campus Crusade for Christ.

"It was at a church camp that I got the injury which has kept me out so far this fall," Wallace said. "A bunch of us were playing touch football and I pulled the hamstring muscle in my leg. It's just now finally healed enough to let me get back in action."

Missouri sports information director Bill Callahan says that Wallace and the Tigers' hard-hitting fullback Ron McBride, who were high school teammates at Fulton, Mo., almost went to Nebraska instead of their home state school.

"That's true," Wallace admitted, "but I don't think that has anything to do with my having such good performances against Nebraska. I've just been lucky in those games."

If anyone's going to get "lucky," the Huskers think it's about their turn against Wallace and his mates. With Rocky back in the lineup, maybe the third time will be the charm . . . for the Big Red.

But though Wallace may be devoted to his church work, he doesn't play football in a very charitable way. Don't expect Wallace or Missouri to be a very gracious host. They don't plan to be.

6-9 Beaty To Stars

Los Angeles (AP) — Zelmo Beaty, star center of the Atlanta Hawks in the National Basketball Association has signed a four year contract with the Los Angeles Stars of the American Basketball Association, the Stars announced Tuesday.

Beaty's contract starts with the 1970-71 season because he still must play out his option for the Hawks.

The 29-year-old veteran, 6-foot-9 center averaged 21.5 points a game for Atlanta last season with 798 rebounds. A product of Prairie View A&M he twice has been on the NBA all-star squad during his seven years in the league.

Contract terms were not divulged.

Stars owner Jim Kirst declared, "We are extremely happy to have a man of Zelmo's proven talent. With Beaty in Los Angeles, Dave Bing headed for the Washington Capitols and Billy Cunningham going to Carolina, it should be solid proof that the American Basketball Association and the Los Angeles Stars mean business."

In the player war between the NBA and the newer ABA, Bing, currently with Detroit, has signed to play with Washington starting in 1970 and Cunningham to go from Philadelphia to Carolina effective in 1971.

On the other hand, Connie Hawkins, who played with the Minnesota Pipers of the ABA, is now with Phoenix of the NBA.

General manager Jim Hardy of the Stars said of the Beaty signing, "This is the biggest accomplishment we have been able to pull off. It's tantamount to making us ABA champions and capable of winning in any league. Zelmo is a proven star with six or seven good years ahead of him."

Honors Shared By AFL Players

New York (AP) —Brad Hubbert, San Diego running back, and Mike Livingston, Kansas City quarterback, share the honors this week as The Associated Press Offensive Players of the Week in the American Football League.

Hubbert, making a comeback after a knee operation, scored three touchdowns for the Chargers in a 21-14 victory over previously undefeated Cincinnati Saturday night.

Organization Meeting To Be Held Oct. 14th

An organizational meeting to form a Nebraska chapter of the American Fisheries Society will be held on Oct. 14 in the auditorium of Bessey Hall at the University of Nebraska City Campus.

The body is a technical society for persons interested in or working with water resources and conservation.

New Bowling League Organized By YMCA

The Southeast Branch YMCA has announced the organization of a new parent child classic bowling league for its family members and any families who wish to join in this family activity.

The parent-child combine average must be 300 pins or higher. The league will be played at Parkway Lanes at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday evenings beginning Saturday.

—DEVANEY DOESN'T EXPECT QB TO CRACK—

Mizzou Defense To Pressure Tagge

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska sophomore quarterback Jerry Tagge figures to be under the greatest pressure of his career when the Huskers face Missouri Saturday, but NU head coach Bob Devaney is confident the young man from Green Bay, Wis., can handle it.

"This is the toughest defense we've faced so far," Devaney said Tuesday in speaking of Missouri. "They put a lot of pressure on you.

"But I don't expect Jerry Tagge to crack under pressure. He's played in three games now and he's held up well under pressure as has Van Brownson.

"And we also expect our offensive line to give our quarterback some protection from the pressure of the same to your defense.

Devaney said what happens early in the game could set the tempo for the contest.

"You can't let Missouri beat you man on man," he pointed out. "You can't let their defense whip your offense man on man nor can you let their offense do the same to your defense.

"They like to be able to do that and just run over you. You've got to establish early who's gonna run over who."

The Huskers completed installing their offensive and defensive patterns Tuesday and Devaney said the next two days will be spent trying to perfect those maneuvers.

"We've studied films of their first three games and we have installed what we think will work best against them both on offense and defense," Devaney said. "Now we've just got to try to make it work."

Devaney said one of the primary defensive problems facing the Huskers is stopping the Missouri running attack, but added too much emphasis cannot be put on that one phase.

"Their quarterback (Terry McMillan) is throwing the ball better than he did a year ago," Devaney pointed out. "And Mel Gray does a good job of catching it and with that combination of Gray's speed and McMillan's passing, they're dangerous.

"And you can't spread out too much to stop their passing because they run the draw play real well up the middle."

Fischer Hospitalized

Nebraska assistant coach Cletus Fischer, who was confined at home all last week because of a kidney ailment, has been hospitalized at Lincoln General for tests.

Tiger Rushers 10th

Missouri ranks 10th nationally in rushing offense, NCAA statistics revealed Tuesday, with a 279-yard per game average.

Oklahoma ranks fourth in that department with 342 yards per contest. The Sooners are 12th in total offense with a 458.5 average. OU's 42.5 scoring average puts them fifth in scoring.

Defensively, Oklahoma is second in pass defense, allowing only 55.5 yards per game while Kansas is eighth, giving up but 76.7 yards per contest passing.

McCook JC Games Even Too Close For Kramer

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Anyone who has played for Nebraska during Bob Devaney's era knows what it's like to play in games that go down to the final gun, but ex-NU All-American tackle Larry Kramer, now coaching at McCook Junior College says "I've never been involved in so many close games since I came here."

McCook had a seemingly-safe 14-0 lead last Saturday with just over a minute remaining against Mesa, Colo., the nation's No. 3-ranked juco team, before winding up in a 14-14 tie.

Mesa's Alvin Huey, brother of former Wyoming gridder Gene Huey, went 55 yards on a wingback counter trap with 59 seconds left. With a rain-slick ball, McCook tried just quarterback sneaks. Mesa time outs helped hold McCook to three downs and Nate McCall ran a punt back 87 yards with 25 seconds remaining to force the game-ending tie. McCook stopped an extra-point run attempt that could have won for Mesa.

"We beat them for 58 minutes," Kramer says, "and anyone who saw the game knew who the better team was. Hutchinson ran a punt back on us to beat us (13-8) in the season opener. We just evidently don't have people who want to go down and tackle.

"Our entire defense played a good game and is vastly improved over last year, for we've given up only 27 points in four games, compared to 81 in the first four games last year.

"Our offense is improved, too. We've got good quarterbacking from Dave Cavalero (Butler, Pa., frosh) and fullback Alex McKinnon played a real fine game against Mesa. Our offensive line did a good job against them, for we rushed for about 200 yards and held them to about 60 before they broke that counter trap. McCall is a great major-college prospect.

"Our special teams, though, are weak, and depth is a problem."

McCook has 11 freshmen starting and the majority of the 11 sophs started a year ago. There are three Lincoln players on the roster, running back Melvin Tarpley of Lincoln High, whom Kramer said did "an outstanding job" against Mesa, and monster-rover Pat Fischer and end Brad Schmidt of Pius X. Fischer has started two games in McCook's 2-1-1 season to date.

In Kramer's first game as McCook coach in 1967, Hutchinson blocked a punt in the Indian end zone to salvage a last-minute 20-20 tie and he has since coached in another half-dozen "cliff-hangers," one of them a 6-0 victory over Fairbury this year.

McCook hosts the No. 1 team in the country, Northeastern, Okla., A&M, November 15, after battling the NU freshmen in Lincoln on Friday afternoon, October 17. . .

Doane College will be featured in this week's Sports Illustrated, honoring the Tigers' run of 33 straight unbeaten games, the longest current streak in the nation.

The Tigers, who had only one change in their regular lineups once the season started last year, had eight men in different spots as starters in a 40-16 victory over Midland last week. Most of the switches, though, were due to injuries.

Fullback Tom Randick (knee strain), linebacker Dave Brewer (ankle) and defensive tackle Otis Bryant (ankle), were all injured the week before against Tarkio and didn't play against Midland. Tight end Bob Hart left school, which brought about the following changes:

Offense — Sophomore Doug Day of Hebron took Randick's place and alternated with Omaha Westside frosh Al Moore in bringing in plays from the bench. Split end Larry Channel took Hart's place at tight end, with flanker Clifford Smith moving to split end and Bellevue soph Bill Gorham to flanker.

Defense — Dick Held moved from cornerback to middle linebacker to take Brewer's place. Dennis Ferry took Held's spot and left a vacancy at a deep back slot that was filled by Ron Peltz, an Alliance sophomore. Mike Pabian, a junior letterman from Prague at 224 pounds, took Bryant's place.

"Pabian made the adjustment quite well and will be a first-line substitute for either defensive tackle," coach Al Papik said, indicating that Randick, Brewer and Bryant will all return against Southwest Minnesota Saturday.

"We undoubtedly miss Channel (who moved from defensive end to split end to tight end), linebacker Craig Koinzan and Marty Jacobsen, an excellent deep back, in our defense," Papik continued, "and probably at this stage we haven't replaced them."

This was Doane's second tough win a row, for the game was tied 16-16 early in the fourth quarter. Midland stopped Doane on the six-inch line and the Tigers also fumbled on the Midland 14 in the first half. "The teams are higher for us and the competition is better," Papik thinks.

Orioles Deluged By Fans Seeking Series Tickets

Baltimore (AP) — From the board chairman on down, the Baltimore Orioles were deluged with World Series ticket requests Tuesday as they awaited their encounter with the New York Mets.

"I've never had so much abuse in my life," said Jerold C. Hoffberger, chairman of the board. "I've been getting telephone calls all day from people who insist they have seats near the dugouts."

In the 1966 World Series, Hoffberger wound up watching his team play two games in Los Angeles from a photographers' position, following a mixup in Baltimore's seat allocation.

"I don't expect to have the same problem this year," Hoffberger said. "At least, not in Baltimore."

"The ticket situation is bad," manager Earl Weaver said. "There's just none available. I've already used my allotment."

"I'm really hurting for tickets in New York," said third baseman Brooks Robinson. "We only get five seats for those games."

"I just have enough tickets to handle my requests so far," said pitcher Eddie Watt. "But it's still early in the week. From now on, anyone who asks gets an unqualified 'no.' "

Pitcher Jim Palmer said he wasn't checking around to see who needed tickets, but ventured the opinion that the higher price this year, $15 for box seats, $10 for reserved, may scare some customers off.

"At those prices, I don't even want my wife to go," he said. "It would be better for her to stay home and watch the games on television."

Because of the ticket problems, the Orioles probably will welcome the resumption of practice on Thursday.

Weaver is expected to review the scouting report on the Mets Wednesday. It was prepared by Jim Russo and Al Kubski.

"I've seen some of the Mets play in the minor leagues," said Weaver, who managed 11 years in the Oriole system before taking over the varsity in July, 1968. "Of course, they could have changed a lot since then, but not on things like speed and throwing arms."

The Orioles haven't seen much of the Mets in spring training games, either.

"I pitched two innings against them in 1968," Watt said. "All I remember is that I hit Phil Linz with a pitch."

Palmer recalls yielding a single to Ron Swoboda on a curve ball, and picking a runner off base.

"Of course, that's when they were the classic Mets," he said. "You'd walk someone and then pick them off. You can't do that against them now."

Blair, who was drafted by the Orioles from the Mets' system following his first year in pro ball in 1962, is looking forward to the World Series.

"I'd like to beat anybody," he said, "but especially the Mets for not thinking I was good enough to play for them."

Manning's Game Called Greatest Ever

By The Associated Press

You'll never get Johnny Vaught to compare quarterbacks, but he did say that Archie Manning's record-smashing evening Saturday was "the greatest performance by a quarterback I've ever seen."

And the Mississippi coach has seen some beauts. Eagle Day, Glenn Griffing, Jake Gibbs . . . all reached stardom under Vaught. But none ever matched the show put on by Manning as Ole Miss dropped a 33-32 heartbreaker to Alabama.

Twenty-four national Southeastern Conference, Mississippi and Alabama offensive records fell as Manning completed 33 of 52 passes for 436 yards and two touchdowns and carried 15 times for 104 yards and Ole Miss, other three scores.

For his 540-yard performance, Manning, a 6-foot-3, 198-pound junior from Drew, Miss., was named college football's Back of the Week by The Associated Press Tuesday.

Mizzou 'Enthusiastic'

By Associated Press

Columbia, Mo. — "We had a good practice today," coach Dan Devine said Tuesday after Missouri's longest football workout this season.

"Tuesday is usually the day we wonder if we have the same team that won on Saturday," Devine added "The practice wasn't great but it was enthusiastic."

"It was longer than usual but probably for no other reason except that some coaches just hate to see their players go off the field," he quipped.

Guards Tim Crnko and Sam Adams were back at work after missing Monday's drill because of injury. Several others who did not practice Tuesday are expected to be ready to play against Nebraska here Saturday.

Kansas

Lawrence, Kan. — Pepper Rodgers pronounced Tuesday's football practice "not bad" and said Kansas will have to play its best game Saturday to beat Kansas State.

Rodgers also said the Jayhawks will have to put a big rush on Lynn Dickey, the Kansas State passing star.

"I'm edgy this week and not very funny," Rodgers said after the practice. "If I say I'll walk home if we lose the game, I will. But I'm not going to say that. Anyway, I don't live very far from the stadium."

Iowa State

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — Reserve tackle Roger Ashland did not show up for practice here Tuesday, leading to speculation he may have quit the Cyclone squad.

Iowa State coach Johnny Majors said he was unsure why Ashland was not at practice. Ashland replaced Tom Barnes when Barnes was sidelined by injuries, but was demoted again when Barnes recovered.

Majors put his squad through a complete offensive and defensive review Tuesday, hoping to come up with a combination which would stop Colorado's passing-running threat Saturday in the Cyclones home opener in the Big Eight for the season.

Kansas State

Manhattan, Kan. — Coach Vince Gibson says Kansas State's wounded are coming along fine and will be ready for Kansas on Saturday.

Mike Montgomery is running better at fullback with his bruised knee, Gibson said. Mack Herron and Clarence Scott are coming along fine.

"We should be fit as a fiddle," Gibson said.

Kansas State has had an "open gate" policy at its practice field all season but student managers are checking all onlookers this week.

"If KU can have secret practices, we can have secret practices," Gibson said.

—'MARMADUKE' TOP LINEMAN—

Oklahoma State Foes Not Endeared To Ward

Kansas City (AP) — His Oklahoma State teammates call John Ward "Marmaduke" after the big, lovable comic-strip dog, but there's nothing endearing about Ward to the Cowboys' football opponents.

Ward, a 6-foot-5, 255-pound two-way tackle, led Oklahoma State's latest wrecking-crew upset, a 17-10 decision Saturday over Texas Tech. And, he got himself named Big Eight lineman of the week.

Last week, John Little, the Cowboys' other defensive tackle, won the conference award for his work in Oklahoma State's 24-18 scuttling of Houston.

Ward, who wants to be a forest ranger if pro football doesn't sidetrack him for a few years, is as happy off the field as he is ferocious on it. "I guess I'm just happy by nature," he said, "but I try to get mean when I'm out there playing."

Ward got mean enough against Texas Tech to throw the key block on a 28-yard run by Bobby Cole on a first-half play that turned the game's momentum, made eight tackles while playing defense half the time, downed a Tech punt inside the one-yard line and then came up with the game-breaking play in the fourth quarter.

With the score tied 10-10, he grabbed a short Tech punt and rumbled 20 yards with it to set up the winning touchdown drive from the losers' 22-yard line. His tackles on defense included two which caught Red Raider backs for losses totaling 15 yards.

"After seeing the film," OSU coach Floyd Gass said, "all you can say is John was outstanding on offense and defense. Can you expect a tackle to do much more in a game than this?"

Ward, who also has won two Big Eight heavyweight wrestling championships, is a 21-year old senior from Tulsa.

He edged Colorado defensive end Bill Brundige for the top lineman honor. Brundige was in on 12 tackles, five unassisted, in the Buffaloes' 30-7 win over Indiana. He made four behind-the-line tackles for losses totaling 26 yards. He also stole the ball from Hoosier quarterback Harry Gonso for a fumble recovery.

Also nominated were Iowa State center Wayne Beske, Kansas State middle guard John Stucky, Nebraska middle guard Ken Geddes, and Kansas linebacker Emery Hicks. Missouri made no nomination.

Gang Attack Victim Out Of Hospital

Topeka, Kan. (AP) — A spokesman for St. Francis Hospital said Tuesday that Sid Mosiman, 19, injured in a gang attack on the Fairbury, Neb., junior college football team Sept. 26, has been released from the hospital.

Mosiman, a tackle, suffered stab wounds of the abdomen and chest and a scalp injury.

Four Women Amateurs In Tourney

Four women bowlers are among the 21 latest amateurs to earn spots in the pro-am division of the Lincoln Open Bowling Tournament to be held Nov. 13-16 at Hollywood Bowl.

The 21 latest entries brings the number to 63 amateurs who will bowl with the pros on opening day of the Professional Bowlers Association tour stop.

The four women qualifying the past week are Vi Madsen, Lorraine Saunders, Linda Wilson and Lucille Higgins, all of Lincoln.

Four bowlers from outside of Lincoln, who qualified in rolloffs at Syracuse are Duane Carlson of Syracuse, Carl Cameron and Elton Kissinger, both of Burr, Ray Craig of Eagle and Don Wachter of Palmyra.

Other Lincolnites earning spots are Norm Foreman, Jim Ehlers, Robert Gilmour, Ray Pillard, Temple Egbert, Dick Keller, Richard Burns, Ray Kreiner, Jim Bogenrief, Henry Lickei, Max Jensen and Tom Romick.

Tagge Takes Big 8 Total Offense Lead

. . . OU'S MILDREN SECOND

Kansas City, Mo. — Sophomore Jerry Tagge gulped hard last Saturday at breakfast. He found out then he was Nebraska's starting quarterback. Now, he ranks as the Big Eight Conference's total offense leader after accounting for 301 yards in the Huskers' big win over Minnesota.

Only the sixth in Big Eight history to accumulate over 300 yards in a game, and the first from Nebraska to do it, Tagge pushed his season's total to 575, an average of 191.7 a game. This gives him a two-yard average advantage over Oklahoma's Jack Mildren, who had the week off.

Tagge's bolt to the top has been paced by his accurate throwing. His .574 passing percentage tops the regular passers. He has hit 35 of 61 for 457 yards, second only to defending-champion Lynn Dickey (498) of Kansas State.

Getting 219 passing on 15 of 23 against the Gophers—he's the fourth from Nebraska to pitch for over 200 in a game—and another 82 rushing, Tagge's average ranks well above the game-average needed to set a total-offense record for sophomores in the Big Eight. The current mark is Bob Anderson's 151.5 of 1967.

Bahe Gets Top Player Honors

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Tigers are supposed to growl. It's lambs that go baa.

But the Fremont Tigers had a baa (he spells it Bahe) last Friday night who was so ferocious he single-handedly accounted for all the winner's points in a close 21-19 football win over Lincoln Southeast.

The stellar performance by Ritch Bahe earned the junior halfback Player of the Week honors.

Bahe had spectacular touchdown runs of 84 and 95 yards to go with a three-yard TD effort, kicked one extra point and then caught a pass for a two-point conversion that provided the margin of victory.

Ritch's 84-yard dash from scrimmage was preceded by a pass interception which stalled a Southeast touchdown bid. He picked off the errant Knights aerial in his end zone and brought the pigskin out to the 16.

On the very next play he set sail around the right side of the line to scamper the distance.

His 95-yard pass interception was again the result of his alert defensive play. He snared another Southeast pass and sprinted the length of the field to paydirt.

Others around the state who had outstanding games last weekend and deserve special recognition include:

Jerry Bode, Petersburg — Threw two touchdown passes, ran for another score in an 18-6 win over Cedar Rapids.

Tom DeGroff, Elkhorn — This senior back scored five TD's on runs of 2, 8, 18, 57 and 68 yards in leading the Antlers to a 50-14 triumph over Weeping Water.

Ron Ham, Benkelman — A junior halfback who scored twice and piled up 215 yards from scrimmage in the Tiger's biggest win of the year, a 28-20 victory over Wauneta.

Tom Witt, Medicine Valley — Another five touchdown producer. Got his in the first three quarters of play before letting the subs take over in the Raiders 40-20 win over North Platte St. Pat's.

Alan Fangmeyer, Deshler — Dashed to a 32-yard score and then kicked the all-important extra point as Deshler handed Red Cloud its first loss of the year.

Gary Filipi, Milligan — Still another back who had five TD's last Friday night. Gary's all came from close in, on runs of 3, 5, 3 and 4 yards, plus the reception of an 11-yard aerial. Milligan buried Holstein, 70-12.

Rodger Stofer, Geneva —Connected on two important scoring passes as Geneva beat Hastings St. Cecilia, 14-6. Tough defenses limited each team to just five first downs, but Stofer accurate passing spelled the difference.

Dale Casper, Hildreth — This 6-1, 180-pound senior tackle-linebacker intercepted two passes and led the defensive unit for this Class D club, in holding Class C Elm Creek to just six points in a 30-6 victory. Dale had three unassisted behind-the-line stops among his efforts.

Bob Dunekacke, Elk Creek —In an upset victory over top ten rated Lewiston, Bob rushed 28 times. Had three TD's and led the defense with 16 tackles.

Bruce Nosky, Crete — When the quarterback was injured, Bruce took over and led the Cardinals to a win over rated Nebraska City.

Jerry Beckman, Table Rock — Jerry was in on 20 tackles, blocked a punt and recovered two fumbles as Table Rock beat Filley, 28-6.

Rod Peterson, Nelson — This junior offensive end caught eight passes, including the winning touchdown toss with just 50 seconds left, as Nelson topped previously unbeaten Alma, 23-20.

4 Cornhusker Dogs Win At Iowa Show

Four dogs owned by Cornhusker Kennel Club members scored wins at a Newton, Iowa, dog show.

A Dachshund owned by Mr. and Mrs. Erich Hartmann was named best of breed and fourth in the Hound Group. A Siberian Husky owned by Gus Lumia was best of breed and a Pug owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kaufman was named best of winners. Kenneth McLane's Chihuahua was a winners dog.

Injured Hill Will Not Quit Says Wife

Elmira, N.Y. (AP) — The wife of injured British race driver Graham Hill said Tuesday he has no plans to retire.

Asked about reports that her husband, two-time winner of the world driving championship, planned to call it quits, Mrs. Hill said:

"No. He hasn't said a word about it, and I haven't mentioned it to him."

Doctors at Arnot-Ogden hospital, where Hill is recovering from injuries suffered in a crash Sunday in the U.S. Grand Prix, denied reports that his injuries were so severe that his racing career was over.

Hill, 40, suffered a broken right leg and dislocated left knee when his Lotus-Ford Formula One car flipped over at 150 miles an hour in the race at Watkins Glen, N.Y.

RECOVERY IDENTICAL

Karen, left, and Sharon Scott, identical 7-year-old twins, pose in their suburban Washington home in Suitland, Md., after it wase announced that they had undergone operations at Childrens Hospital for the same heart defects. Cardiologists said their case was unusual because it is rare for identical twins both to have heart trouble.

Oldest Frosh At Chadron Already Talented Artist

The oldest freshman at Chadron State Coolege is also one of the most talented.

He's Joe LaMay of Alliance, who is regarded as one of the top artists in Western Nebraska.

The 54-year-old master painter says he's enrolled at CSC so he can do what he's always wanted to do — teach art in schools. Although he notes that he may be getting a late start at college, he's no newcomer at tardiness when it comes to getting an education. He was 21 when he started high school and collected a $10 bet when he finished four years later.

This time there are no bets, unless they are with his five children. For the first time in seven years, none of them is in college and this summer they decided "it was dad's turn," as LaMay puts it.

Ironically, he's already done quite a bit of art instructing. He's even lectured to classes at Chadron State on occasions and has taught numerous adult classes in Alliance.

The self-taught artist, who was raised by his grandmother in Deadwood, S.D., believes it is because he was a small, sickly child that he became interested in art. He recalls that he had to be indoors much of the time and his grandmother always kept a piece of paper in front of him to keep him occupied.

His paintings have been sold to some well-known collectors, including the Carnegie family. Twice his entry in the five-state art show at Scottsbluff has won second prize among the scores of entries.

His paintings have been displayed all across Nebraska, including Kearney State College, the University of Nebraska, Hastings College and the House of Yesterday in Hastings. He also has put on a one-man art show at Chadron State.

Paddock Hotel New Offer Is Reported

A hearing to determine the fate of the financially-plagued Paddock Hotel in Beatrice was continued for another week in U.S. District Court Tuesday after hotel trustee Robert Brower reported a new offer had been received.

Federal Judge Robert Van Pelt granted Brower's petition for a continuance after the trustee submitted a letter in which a religious organization renewed its previously-withdrawn offer to purchase the hotel for $110,000.

Brower told the court he needed more time to prepare a new reorganization plan in light of the offer by Defenders of the Christian Faith, a non-denominational religious organization based in Kansas City, Mo.

The hearing was continued until 2 p.m. Oct. 15, but Brower was instructed to submit his reorganization plan Oct. 13.

The hotel has approximately 75 creditors who would probably press claims if the new plan is accepted by the court.

Straight bankruptcy is a possibility if the plan is rejected.

Final Learning Festival Classes Start This Week

The final four classes being offered in the 1969 Fall Festival of Learning begin Wednesday and Thursday.

Starting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday are classes in conversational Spanish and "The 'Heart' of Your Health."

Beginning Thursday at 7:30 p.m. will be classes in writing and sex education. All of the classes will meet at the Bennett Martin Library, 14th and N.

The non-credit classes are sponsored by the University of Nebraska Extension Division, the Lincoln City Libraries, and the adult education department of the Lincoln Public Schools.

4 NWU Students Get Scholarships

Four Nebraska Wesleyan University students have received $500 National Methodist Scholarships for 1969-70.

They are Frederick Catlett, Papillion senior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight E. Catlett; Shirley Fisher, Albion junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin V. Fisher; Rhea Miller, Red Oak, Iowa, sophomore, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. William T. Miller; and Mark Tompkins, Inman junior, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Tompkins.

POSTCARD by Betzaland

A nip in the air these mornings. Health excellent due to constant precautions.

"Is that butter you're putting on my toast?" I cried.

"A little butter won't hurt you," she said. "I forgot to buy margarine."

A little butter won't hurt you! Fat lot she knows. By reading the health magazines regularly I know butter ruins your ticker. Dear John — that's all she wrote.

Butter packs your clock with cholesterol. (Used to be I had to look that word up in the dictionary. Now I type it off with no sweat. Well, a little. The word itself brings out a bit on my forehead.)

"Try not to worry so much," said the medic.

There's so much more to worry about nowadays," I said.

☆ ☆ ☆

I think my heart is beating in waltz time. A little hesitation step. I read something about that in the health magazine. "Don't panic," it said, "but watch it, Jackson."

I panic easily. Good thing that magazine is a monthly. A weekly would have me plucking at the coverlets in no time.

"Medical science has made giant strides in the past few years," says the magazine.

One giant stride they made was to find burnt toast crusts were bad for you. When I think of the years I gobbled this stuff — "Eat your crusts," said grandma. "It makes your hair curly."

Now I find it could send you into the great beyond.

"That's one giant step for mankind," I said when I read it. "But it's a rotten thing to do to me."

☆ ☆ ☆

Consider carrots. Vitamins were not discovered when I was a boy. We were fed carrots because our mothers cooked them.

Then we found out about Vitamin A. Carrols were stiff with Vitamin A. It improved your night vision. Eat carrots and on a clear night you could see forever.

Comes the mailman with the health magazine.

Says the American Medical Association: "More than half the people in the United States have eye trouble, but eating carrots will not improve their vision."

It seems the Vitamin A in a carrot you could put in a gnat's eye and he couldn't see across the street.

"Where are my glasses?" I said. "I can't see a thing."

☆ ☆ ☆

If you have worked on newspapers, you tend to think in gloomy headlines.

"Stricken." That is a word we use. If you have not already had it, read that with your name in front. That will finish you off.

The health magazine editors are former newspapermen. I can tell by the words they use. "Condition Grave."

Gabriel, blow that horn.

☆ ☆ ☆

Look on the bright side. The healthiest book around here is "The Ship's Medicine Chest at Sea."

It is issued by the Government Printing Office. Prepared by U.S. Public Health. My copy says it was last revised in 1955. A good year for wine, a good year for men.

The other day I called them up. I asked if I could get updated. Get a 1969 version. They said they were working on it.

My copy was the latest they had. I guess medicine was making such giant strides, the printers couldn't keep up.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, without the recent giant strides, I find I am pretty well. "Headaches can be relieved with one or two aspirin tablets."

That is the way we cure things with "The Ship's Medicine Chest."

The health magazine would have me on a stretcher with a headache. They would think up new things that came from eating maybe peanut butter.

"Give two aspirin," says "The Ship's Medicine Chest."

It says a cold compress may help, too. Only I don't have a heachache. What to do?

Economy Move Lets Cuban By

•The New York Times

Washington — A Cuban MIG17 was able to slip into Florida undetected Sunday because two of three special Air Force radar picket planes designed to guard against just that sort of penetration had been grounded for budgetary reasons only two days before the incident, military sources said Tuesday.

Sources in Florida and Washington said that until last Friday three Air Force EC121 early warning aircraft had flown overlapping nine-hour missions from McCoy Air Force Base in Florida. Their assignment was to fly between Florida and Cuba looking for low-flying aircraft that might try to come in under the view of land-based radars.

On Aug. 21, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird announced that spending for Air Force training and other flights not connected with Southeast Asia would be reduced. It was later estimated this would save from $35 million to $50 million in expenditures a year.

One of these cuts was in the early warning radar mission off the Florida coast, which had been instituted in late 1962 during the Cuban missile confrontation. This cutback, however, did not take effect until last Friday.

At that time, two of the three EC121s there were grounded. The third was directed to fly a nine-hour mission at randomly selected times. As it happened, the EC121 was not on station around noon Sunday when the Cuban MIG, armed with three cannon, fled Cuba and landed at Homestead Air Force Base, practically alongside the plane being fueled to carry President Nixon from Key Biscayne back to the capital.

In his announcement in August, Laird said: "I wish it were possible for me to state that these cuts could be made without impairing our defense readiness. Regrettably, I must say that these cuts will reduce our capability to meet current commitments."

Asked Tuesday morning about reports that a hasty review had been launched to determine whether possible deficiencies existed in air defense coverage following the MIG's surprise flight, Jerry Friedheim, Pentagon spokesman, said: "I find no review in progress." But other sources said such a review had been ordered by Gen. John D. Ryan, Air Force chief of staff, immediately after learning of the MIG incident.

PLANE CRASHES IN OKLAHOMA CITY

An Air National Guard F100 jet lost power over an Oklahoma City suburb and crashed Tuesday, cutting a block-long swath through homes and yards. The co-pilot, identified as 2nd Lt. James R. Nelms of Wichita, was killed, but the pilot, Capt. James L. Kirkhuff of Euless, Tex., parachuted to safety. No one in the neighborhood was hospitalized.

Military Parade Rapped

Berlin (UPI) — Communist East German troops goose-stepped down Unter den Linden in East Berlin Tuesday in a military parade denounced by the Western allied powers as a violation of Berlin's demilitarized status.

Soviet Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, East German chief state and party leader Walter Ulbricht, and top Communist government and party leaders from around the world watched the 45-minute parade.

The military display, including soldiers, sailors, paratroopers, tanks, antiaircraft guns and rockets, preceded a five-hour parade by 400,000 youths and workers marking the 20th anniversary of the Communist East German state.

East German news services said more than one million persons attended similar observances in other cities throughout Communist Germany.

Even before the East Berlin parade ended, the Western allies issued a statement accusing the Soviets of violating Big Four postwar agreements banning the stationing and parading of German troops in Berlin. The ban is still observed by the United States, Britain and France in West Berlin.

Youth Is Injured In Disturbance At Omaha School

Omaha (AP) — At least one youth was injured Tuesday in a disturbance that broke out at Omaha's North High School as classes were over for the day.

Treated for head cuts at Immanuel Hospital near the school was Mike Voeller, 17, who was injured in a fight, according to a hospital spokesman. He said the youth would be released from the hospital after he was interviewed by police.

The disturbance revolved around fights that broke out as classes were dismissed at the school Tuesday afternoon.

Lincoln Aerospace Denies Rumors Company Leaving

H. E. Ethier, general manager of the Lincoln Aerospace Division of Applied Technology Inc., issued a statement Tuesday denying rumors that the company is planning to leave Lincoln.

"Due to the recent completion of a large aircraft overhaul contract, Lincoln Aerospace has reduced its force by about 50%," Ethier said. Following the cut, the company employs a force of some 125-130 workers.

"The cutback is essentially completed," he said, "and we are pursuing new business prospects. In the meantime we have one major and several small contracts which will require approximately the present work force till the end of 1970."

Lincoln Aerospace has just completed a T39 aircraft contract which was issued in 1968 at more than $1 million. until November, 1970.

Applied Technology Inc. (ATI) of Palo Alto, Calif., merged with Itek Corp. of Lexington, Mass., in September, 1968. The Lincoln branch became known as the Lincoln Aerospace Center of ATI, and has since become a division of Itek.

Conservative Wins GOP Primary

Chicago (AP) — Dr. Philip M. Crane, a conservative and strong supporter of Barry Goldwater in 1964, won the Republican primary in the 13th congressional district of Illinois.

The GOP primary has been considered a test of President Nixon's handling of the Vietnam war.

Crane has advocated a withdrawal of most U.S. ground troops and economic sanctions against all nations that trade with North Vietnam. He also has proposed that the South Vietnamese be allowed to seal off Haiphong Harbor.

An avowedly anti-war candidate, Gerald Marks, placed sixth among the seven serious candidates on the ballot. The eighth name on the ballot, Lar (America First) Daly, went down to his 25th consecutive election defeat.

Over the last 50 years, success in the Republican primary in the district has been tantamount to election. The district has the highest median income of any in the nation.

The seat was left vacant by the resignation of Donald Rumsfeld to become director of the Office of economic Opportunity.

Atlanta Negro Seems Loser

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — The first Negro in modern history to seek the office of mayor of Atlanta appeared out of the running Tuesday night with nearly one-half of the city's precincts reported.

Dr. Horace E. Tate, a Negro educator, was fourth in a field of four contenders with 73 of 149 precincts in, and observers familiar with Atlanta voting patterns said Tate could not gain enough to make a runoff. Close to half the city's population is black.

Elkhorn Mayor Says He Opposes Platte River Dam

Omaha (AP) — Mayor Arthur Gottsch of Elkhorn told the Douglas County Board Tuesday he strongly opposes the proposed construction of a $500 million dam on the Platte River in eastern Nebraska.

Gottsh claimed talk of the dam has driven down real estate prices in western Douglas County by 30 to 40%.

And he said towns along the Elkhorn River would be faced with a silting problem if the dam were built.

The Elkhorn River carries a lot of sand and "when the water goes down, that sand doesn't leave," he said.

We're concerned about your teenager's complexion, too.

And we think we can help. Because we make a low fat milk that can help control teenage complexion and weight problems. It's called Mighty-2. It's lower in fat than regular milk and yet it still has that great hearty flavor kids like. And what's more, Mighty-2 is fortified with the vitamins and protein your active kids need.

So you see, we're doing our part to help keep Americans beautiful. Do yours, too. Make sure your kids eat a good, balanced diet every day and drink Fairmont Mighty-2. They may think you're a little square, but they'll be mighty grateful you cared.

Stock Mart Slips To Moderate Loss

New York (AP) — With investors displaying a decided lack of interest in buying or selling, the stock market slipped to a moderate loss in late trading Tuesday.

The performance was an extension of the lethargic attitude that gripped the market Monday.

"There is a lot of guesswork about the economy and corporate profits, and investors were supercautious," an analyst said.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials ended with a loss of 3.17 to 806.23, its lowest level of the session. The Associated Press 60-stock average lost .6 at 283.2, with industrials off 2.1 to a new 1969 low, rails up .6, and utilities off .4.

The New York Stock Exchange index declined 0.12 to 51.74.

Of 1,576 issues traded on the Big Board, 710 declined, and 597 advanced. New 1969 highs exceeded new lows by 85 to 14.

Volume rose to 10.05 million shares from 9.19 million Monday.

Among the 20 most-active stocks on the New York exchange, 11 rose, 7 fell, and 2 were unchanged. Lykes-Youngstown, up ⅛ at 14¼, was the most-active on total volume of 207,200 shares, including a block of 198,100 shares.

A considerable number of large blocks were traded on the Big Board, including 100,000 shares of Phillips Industries at 27½; 91,900 shares of Lubrizol at 56; 80,000 shares of Computer Sciences at 22; and 69,600 shares of Tenneco at 23½.

Rubbers, mail order-retailers, aircrafts, electronics, chemicals, oils, airlines and tobaccos were mostly lower. Motors and rails were in the plus column.

Price increases in the aluminum and tire industries produced some advances. After Alcoa and Reynolds Metals followed Kaiser Aluminum in raising the ingot price by one cent a pound, Alcoa advanced ¾ to 70¾, and Reynolds added ⅜ at 31⅜.

General Tire joined other companies in a price boost and gained ⅜ to 18¼. Firestone was up ⅝ at 51 and Uniroyal was ahead ⅜ at 19⅞.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange. The exchange index slipped one cent to $26.59. Of 1,047 issues traded, 460 fell, and 342 rose. Volume expanded to 3.56 million shares from 2.89 million Monday.

Among the 20 most-active stocks, advances and declines were even at 10 each. Cook Industries, off ½ at 12⅜ on volume of 99,800 shares, was the most-active.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Cost Of Research Ignored By Critics Of Drug Firms

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

'Vide Gulf

A recent visit to the research facilities of a major drug company in the midwest dramatized the wide gulf between its scientific approach and the tendency of demagogues to downgrade corporate business as a racket.

Plato put it succinctly when he said that there are two worlds: the world of reality and the world of ideas.

Critics of the pharmaceutical industry talk glibly about excessive profits on new branded drug compounds, but they don't complete the ledger entries and describe the many dry holes explored before a useful product is found. Moreover, they skip over the fact that an average of eight years elapses between the conception of a new drug and its final preparation for marketing.

These thoughts came to mind when as a member of the New York Society of Security Analysts I recently visited the research headquarters of Parke-Davis at Ann Arbor, Mich. and conferred with members of top management. This company is not exceptional, but is representative of substantial companies that seek to fight obsolescence through huge annual expenditures on research and development. This company had budgeted for research and scientific work this year more than $2,000,000 in excess of its total net profits after taxes in 1968.

Prolonged Procedure

After a new compnound is developed, it is subject to a prolonged procedure to test its therapeutic value and also the risks patients take in possible toxic results or side effects. Then after prolonged internal checking, including testing on animals and then on human beings, a new drug must be acceptable to the federal Food & Drug Administration before it can be marketed domestically.

To coordinate the vast research experimental activities, a research committee of senior officers meets two or three times a month, and gives direction to the broad efforts. The research and development department has set up 18 categories of drugs and biological products. When the technicians are through with a new product, it is turned over to the quality control division, which studies production methods and processes. When quality control is through, it prepares an elaborate new drug application for submission to the Food & Drug Administration.

I recount these details to demonstrate how differently these executives operate than assumed in movie scripts, where decision-making is often portrayed as snap judgment based on mere hunches.

A spokesman for the research staff said: "Through research, we pledge to continue seeking clues to products that will mean better health, better lives, for the peoples of the world. To stay in the lead, a company must constantly be aware of the need for change, for expansion and improvement."

Educational Job

Before a prescription drug, however meritorious, can come into wide usage, it is necessary to do an educational job on the medical profession. This one company alone has a staff of 1,100 to call on doctors.

In setting forth the manner in which a well-managed corporation functions as a disciplined, cooperative venture, I don't imply companies can do no wrong and are equal in skills and public usefulness. The competitive system, based on a recognition of differences, is a continuous testing process.

Regulation should make sure that the voluntary concerns perform in a manner consistent with the public interest. But optimum results cannot be achieved in a climate of ignorance business-baiting and prejudice based on the illusion that business is a racket.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be handled in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Theft Of $467 Is Investigated

Police were investigating Tuesday the theft of $467 from Williams Cleaners, 1259 So. Cotner.

According to police, the money was apparently taken after the firm closed for the weekend.

The door of the firm was unlocked and no signs of forced entry were found, police said.

2 Die In Las Vegas Violence

Las Vegas, Nev. (UPI) — A private security guard shot and killed a suspected robber in a liquor store Tuesday night as bands of youths roamed the mostly Negro West Side in the third night of violence.

Police said the unidentified man was shot as he was leaving the building carrying liquor. The incident brought the total number of deaths to two.

Earlier Tuesday, a salesman making a delivery to a home was fatally shot in the throat in the district where 76 persons were arrested Monday night.

Crowd Gathers

A large crowd threw rocks and bottles at police shortly after a curfew went into effect at 7 p.m.

Mayor Oran Gragson and the city commissioners met with 25 Negroes Tuesday night and listened to complaints of police harrassment and lack of job opportunities and recreation on the West Side.

The city officials agreed to another meeting Wednesday afternoon at Doolittle Park on the West Side to discuss further grievances.

Blacks To Report

Assemblyman Woodrow Wilson, R-Las Vegas, the only Negro elected to the Nevada legislature, said 10 black citizens were to be stationed around the area and report directly to the chief of police.

Carl Arthur Benson, 71, of Henderson, Nev., was shot at close range, police said. He was a solicitor for a household products firm.

Dist. Atty. George Franklklin said that an 8-year-old girl witnessed the shooting but was hustled back inside the house by her mother.

Franklin said in view of the tense situation police decided not to enter the house to question the girl.

Creighton President Blasts Bigotry, White Racism On School's Campus

Omaha (AP) — There is too much racial bigotry and white racism at Creighton University, the school's president told students Tuesday.

In his annual convocation address to students, the Rev. H. W. Linn said "a white racism which is intolerable in a Christian university" exists in residence halls and classrooms by students and faculty members alike.

He said this racism must be erased at Creighton. It was his second statement to that effect in the last week. Father Linn warned in the student newspaper last Friday that he would not tolerate racist behavior.

"I don't want this situation to be magnified out of proportion," the president said Tuesday. "But on a Catholic university campus even small incidents of this nature merit the greatest attention."

He said that insensitivity toward minorities is demonstrated and manifested in "hundreds of subtle, ignorant and unplanned ways . . . which reflect our white racism."

He called racism "our deadliest national malady," and said erasing it from Creighton must be "our common task this year."

Omaha College, Hospital To Join In Nursing Plan

Omaha (AP) — The College of St. Mary in Omaha Tuesday announced plans to open a new nursing school in cooperation with Bergan-Mercy Hospital next fall.

The program will qualify students as registered nurses and grant them associate degrees, a spokesman for the college said

The present St. Catherine's Nursing School operating at Bergan-Mercy will graduate its final class next August.

A spokesman for the College of St. Mary said the first class, to be accepted in September 1970, is expected to be made up of about 60 students with the number of freshmen to climb to 110 the following year.

At present Nebraska has no associate degree programs, although the University of Nebraska Medical Center has started organizing such a program which will open next fall.

Lincoln Man, 33, 'Fair' Following 3-Car Accident

A 33-year-old Lincoln man was reported in "fair" condition at Lincoln General Hospital Tuesday night after suffering injuries earlier in the day in a three-car mishap at 10th and K.

The injured man, Fred Patz of 2225 Sumner, was northbound on 10th when, trying to avoid hitting a car, he collided with another auto driven by Dwight L. Johnson, 33, of 3801 Linden.

As a result of the crash, the Johnson car went on to collide with still another auto driven by William E. Hayden, 58, of 5424 Walker.

Neither Walker nor Johnson were hospitalized, according to police.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

A wind with a speed of 74 miles per hour or more is designated a hurricane.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Bishop of Chester, John Wilkins, worried in 1638 that spacemen might starve to death on the long flight to the moon which he believed might take half a year. "No inns to entertain passengers, nor any castles in the air to receive poor pilgrims," he lamented.

With a few exceptions, most Texas drivers are pictured in color on their licenses.

The Roman Emperor Caligula was one of the first large-scale shell collectors. In A.D. 40, he arrived at the English Channel with an invasion army. Intimidated by the forbidding water barrier, he ordered his troops to gather seashells along the French coast, and returned to Rome with what he called "the spoils of conquered ocean."

☆ ☆ ☆

An acre of desert may support as many as 100,000 beetles, which thrive in arid lands.

☆ ☆ ☆

Benjamin Franklin once said that swimming is a normalizer and reducer of fatty tissues."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
